Green Shingle Inn Shooting a Mystery

Witnesses Examined Tuesday Afternoon Unable to Say Who Fired Shot That Killed Thomas Clausi Sunday Evening—Shooting Was Preceded and Followed By Fighting In Which Bottles and Chairs Were Used as Weapons—Examination Continued.

Who shot Thomas Clausi at the Green Shingle Inn on the Saugerties road Monday afternoon was not established at the first hearing before County Judge Joseph M. Fowler Tuesday afternoon. Several witnesses who were in the fight which preceded the murder were called and examined but none knew who fired the shot or even saw a gun. During the examination all of the persons held in the county jail as material witnesses were examined but none was able to throw any light on the situation. The testimony in regard to the fight and the things which led up to the fight was given in great detail but when it came to the question of who fired the shot there was a great lack of knowledge.

The several men who arrived at the Inn first and who were with the dead man prior to the fight all testified that the trouble was caused by the coming of the four men from Kingston who arrived a few minutes after the first party had stopped. They testified that when the four young men came to the Inn they immediately started to call the Italians numerous choice names in addition to calling them "wops, dagos and guineas." It appears that but three of the men came in at first and the fourth remained in the car for a time but joined the others when the fight started.

Several of the witnesses testified that "the big fellow" was drunk and talked a great deal and called most of the names which led up to the fight. Joe Magger tried to act as peacemaker and asked the other three who appeared to be sober to take their "big friend" out and stop the trouble. It was then that the fight started.

Scented Trouble, Called Troopers.

Daisy Williams, who formerly resided in New York and later ran a rooming house at Albany but who was the proprietress of the Green Shingle Inn on the day of the fight and murder, said she served soda and sandwiches only at the Inn and that she expected trouble when the two parties arrived. She consequently sent her man to a 'phone to call the State Troopers from East Kingston and it was due to this fact that the Troopers arrived in time to pick up the three men who were taking the back road to their homes after the shooting.

Daisy also explained why she kept the front door of her soda and sandwich place locked and admitted customers only after she unlocked the door.

Men Insist They Had Beer.

The story as told by the witnesses was that the Italians had been celebrating the holiday by having friends and relatives present at their homes. Antonio Magger was visiting his brothers and sisters, as was Peter and others. In the afternoon they went to the ball game in two cars and after the game went to the Green Shingle Inn to see a friend who was staying there. When they arrived they entered the Inn and sat down at a couple of tables. Later they all secured seats and sat down at one table and had a drink of beer. Miss Williams insisted that there was no beer served but that it was soda. However, the men who drank said they had beer, one or two rounds.

Resented Being Called Names.

When they arrived there was a lady and a couple of men at the Inn. There were seven in the party. They had been in the place but a few minutes when a car drove up with four men in it. Three of the men came in. Antonio Magger said he went to the toilet at that time and when he came out he heard the second party of men talking "against our party." They were calling the name "wop" and other names. After they had called them wops once or twice Angelo Qualtiere told them to stop it, that once or twice was enough but they could not stand too much of it. There was a conversation about the Italians being ashamed of their nationality and one of them replied that they were not ashamed of being Italians but did not desire to be called other names.

Drunk and Talkative.

Magger said "the big fellow" in the party of four stood up by the door. He appeared to be drunk and talked a lot. Daisy Williams went over to him and told him to either come in or go out so she could take care of the door and the big fellow told her he would stay where he was. He stayed near the door.

The fourth man in the party then joined the three in the place, according to the witness.

The Fight and Shot.

At that point Angelo Qualtiere objected to the names and said he would not stand for it. The other members of the party told him to overlook the names as the man who was calling them was drunk. At this point Joe went over to the table where the three were seated and asked them to keep the big fellow in the door quiet or take him home as he was drunk. It was at that time the fight started. In the mix-up which followed, everyone was engaged. Antonio Magger said he was thrown on the floor and he heard a shot fired. He did not know who fired it but it was fired out-doors. He saw no gun. At the time the shot was fired Thomas Clausi was near the door.

Died Before Reaching Hospital.

When the shot was fired Thomas Clausi fell partly inside and partly on the porch. He attempted to get up and walk and was assisted to a chair and later taken in a car to the hospital where it was found he had died on the way. The four men got in their car and drove away, going up the road toward Saugerties.

Antonio said the three men who had not gone to the hospital with the injured man then started to walk home over the back road and it was then that they were overtaken by the Troopers and taken back to the scene of the shooting.

The Troopers were accompanied by another officer from East Kingston.

Says Shot Was Fired Outside.

The witness said the shot was fired outside the house and after the shot he saw Angelo Qualtiere in the house. The four men then pulled Angelo outside the house and threw him on the ground.

Questioned further by District Attorney Traver, the witness said he could not say where Angelo was at the moment the shot was fired. It was four or five minutes after the shot was fired that he saw Angelo in the room. He thought they remained at the place ten or fifteen minutes after the fight before they started home. They were somewhat covered with blood and mussed up. Angelo had a black eye.

Antonio said that when the Troopers asked what had been going on he replied that there had been a fight and someone had been shot. It was then they were asked to accompany the Troopers back to the scene. He could not recall just what the Troopers had been told at that time.

Antonio did not remember seeing any bottles thrown but he remembered seeing Angelo outside on the ground after the shooting, and four men had him then.

"Big Fellow" Did Not Drink.

Peter Magger, next called, told about the same story except he said a lady had served them with beer, they had two beers before the fight started. He said it was fifteen or twenty minutes after the four arrived that the fight started and during all that time names were being called but his party made no reply. He said the "big fellow" stood by the door and did not have anything to drink, only two of the party of four had drinks. He told how Joe had gone to the table and told the men to take their "big friend out" and how someone grabbed Joe by the arm and the fight started. The shot was fired outside the room. Several minutes after, Angelo was outside at the rear but he did not know where he was at the time of the shot. He told how Daisy had tried to quiet the "big fellow" and how Joe had attempted to have the other men take him out and prevent trouble.

Result of Autopsy.

Dr. William J. O'Leary next testified. He was at the Benedictine Hospital when Thomas Clausi was brought there. Dr. O'Leary said the man was dead when he arrived. He and his brother, Dr. John G. O'Leary, performed an autopsy that night. They found a bullet wound in the left side between the seventh and eighth ribs. The bullet was traced through the liver and lodged in the fleshy side wall of the abdomen on the right. The course of the bullet was changed several times by striking either bone or tissue. The cause of death was internal hemorrhage from the liver.

Dr. O'Leary produced the steel-jacketed bullet which was found in the dead man's body, a .38 calibre bullet. It was placed in evidence.

Proprietress Gives Testimony.

Daisy Williams was the next witness. She said she originally came from New York but had run a rooming house in Albany. She was the proprietress of the Green Shingle inn. Daisy said the party of seven or eight came in and sat down and asked for a drink. Before she served them the other party came. She did not know if the party of seven had been served with a drink by someone else before the four men arrived. There were three tables in the room and at first the larger party occupied two of them. Later she got them organized and gave them seats at one table. After the second party arrived the first party were all at one table.

Daisy said she did not serve beer.

S-51 Hits Rock And Sinks in The East River

Ill-Fated Submarine in Tow to Brooklyn Navy Yard Hits Ferry Reef in East River and Sinks—Start Work of Dragging Her Off the Rock.

New York, July 7.—The ill-fated Submarine S-51, in tow to the Brooklyn Navy Yard from where she sank off Block Island last September, sank a second time shortly after 10 o'clock this morning when she hit a rock known as Ferry Reef in the East river off 34th street, Manhattan. As the submarine crashed into the rock, the Steamer Falcon, coming along behind, collided with the pontoons supporting the submersible and the S-51 settled beneath the water. Navy officials declared the coat could be raised and immediately started the work of dragging her off the rock.

The submarine had been safely towed through the treacherous waters of Hell Gate, where it had been feared there might be trouble. The end of her voyage was only a short distance away when the accident occurred.

The S-51, with her freight of heroic dead who went down with her had not met with the slightest accident until the supply ship Vestal towed her into the East river. A strong current runs at this point, and the swirling water swung the submersible around and against the rock before the convoying ships could change their course.

A fleet of tugs sent by the Brooklyn Navy Yard was on the scene shortly after the S-51 had sunk in thirty feet of water.

Officials said that if it did not prove feasible to drag off the S-51, a wrecking derrick would be used to lift the craft.

At low tide, when the water depth is about 24 or 25 feet, it was believed that the S-51 would be visible. At present, the submarine lies in the direct line of water traffic.

Pilots Blamed.

Unofficial blame, pending the investigation which will be made, has been placed on the pilots, one of whom was aboard the Falcon, the vessel following the cortege, and the other who was on duty on one of the tugs. An officer of the Vestal said that the tugs had not followed the Vestal's lead.

Captain W. V. Comb, commanding the Vestal, had just congratulated his fellows in the way of tortuous channels of Hell Gate had been successfully navigated, when he turned to look at the S-51, and shouted:

"She's hit."

Eye witnesses said that the submarine stood quite still for a moment and then plunged. The Falcon bumped the pontoons as the S-51 struck and in a few minutes only air bubbles rising to the surface marked the location of the submarine.

Pontoons Sprung Leaks.

It was evident that the pontoons had sprung leaks after being bumped by the Falcon, as they settled very low in the water. It was believed that the work of raising the S-51 or dragging her off the shoal would be deferred until low tide.

Admiral Plunkett, commandant of the Brooklyn Navy Yard, was aboard the Falcon until ten minutes before the S-51 struck. Assured that the dangerous feat had been accomplished and that no further mishap was likely, the admiral proceeded to the Brooklyn Navy Yard to prepare for the reception of the submarine and its escorts.

Police boats patrolled the river, keeping at a safe distance all passing vessels.

Navy yard officials said that it was probable that no great damage had been done when the submarine grounded, because of the cautious pace at which the tow was moving.

Captain Henry C. Wright, of the Navy Yard, said that radio advices received from the towing vessels reported that the anchor chains attaching two pontoons to the rear of the S-51 had broken when the craft's stern scraped the reef.

SHOOTS SWEETHEART AND KILLS SELF.

Chelsea, Mass., July 7.—Nellie Jaworska, 17, is in a critical condition in a hospital here today with four bullet wounds in her body inflicted, according to police, by her sweetheart, Joseph Yozarias, 20, who then killed himself.

The shooting was said to have followed a quarrel over the girl's failure to spend the Fourth of July holiday with Yozarias.

MECHANICS TO VISIT POUGHKEEPSIE FRIDAY

On Friday evening, July 9, Charles DeWitt Council, No. 21, J. O. U. A. M., will pay a visit to Harvey G. Eastman Council, No. 37, at Poughkeepsie. The J. O. U. A. M. Band will be there to lead the local delegation from the ferry to the council rooms. Buses will leave Mechanics' Hall, 14 Henry street, at 7.15 o'clock sharp.

Bandits Fire Victim's Home.

Quebec, July 7.—Breaking into the home of Henri Pedard at St. Georges De Champlain early today bandits tied him to the bed, robbed him of $400, and fire to the bed and escaped. Pedard freed himself and escaped to the street but the house was destroyed by the fire.

Coolidges Arrive In Adirondacks

White Pines Camp, Summer White House Until September Fully Prepared For Comfort of President and Mrs. Coolidge.

Paul Smiths, N. Y., July 7.—President Coolidge came today to White Pines Camp, a palace in the wilderness, for rest, recreation and work.

The President and Mrs. Coolidge, with an imposing White House entourage, arrived this morning at Gabriels, the terminus of the presidential special, and were at once whisked in the waiting White House limousines over the mountain roads to the wooded estate, on the shore of Lake Osgood, which will be the summer White House until September. They found fully prepared for their comfort one of the most elaborate and unique camps in all the wide stretch of the Adirondacks, a camp which in the past had been the scene of gorgeous entertaining and the mecca of social and artistic New York.

Thirty cabins occupy the wooded promontory, on the south side of the mountain lake, affording an unbroken view of the northern tier of Adirondack peaks stretching to the Canadian line forty miles away. Directly to the north, across the lake, they saw a virgin forest, to which man is relatively a stranger and in which wild game abound. To the south, from the crest of the promontory, their eyes feasted upon Blue Mountain Lake, glistening under a bright sun from Saranac to Placid.

They went at once to a central group of cabins which they will occupy in a grove of clustered giant white pines which throw their shadows into Osgood Lake.

President and Mrs. Coolidge established themselves in the living cabin, a one-story structure fashioned from the white pine slabs and natural granite of the mountains. Crackling wood fires burned in two enormous fireplaces of pink granite. Archibald White, the New Yorker who had established the camp, had chosen French tapestries and Italian works of art for the decorations of this sumptuous cabin and the Coolidges found in it evidences of a lavishness surpassing the permanent White House.

In this cabin President and Mrs. Coolidge will receive their occasional guests and President Coolidge will do the business of running the government. A giant radio will bring entertainment from the outside world. Telephone lines run to the executive offices four miles distant, where a switchboard will bring the president into instantaneous contact with the White House, six hundred miles distant.

The other cabins in this detached group comprise the sleeping and dining quarters of President and Mrs. Coolidge. They will live in one cabin, sleep in another and dine in the third. Each cabin, twenty yards away, is reached by a nicely paved walk through the pines. Four guest cabins, a bowling and billiard cabin, a Japanese pagoda cabin and quarters for the servants comprise the remainder of this heavily cabined estate.

Elaborate arrangements for the protection of the presidential party were found to be complete when the president arrived. A company of forty marines had already pitched camp upon the grounds. A troop of the state's motorcycle police were in readiness to break traffic jams on the state highway. The president was attended by the usual company of twelve secret service men.

President Passed Through Kingston

The special train carrying President and Mrs. Coolidge and members of their party to their vacation camp in the Adirondacks passed through Kingston over the West Shore tracks about 12:30 last night. No stop was made here.

COLUMBIA STUDENT SEEKS $100,000 HEART BALM

Boston, July 7.—Two suits for a total of $100,000 were on file in Superior court here today by Miss Verna J. Saunders of Malden, Mass., a student at Columbia University, against Dr. Harry W. Hicks, Boston dentist, and his mother, Mrs. Emmeline Hicks Leeds of Brookline, Mass.

She asks $50,000 from each, charging Hicks with alleged breach of promise and his mother with inducing him to break the engagement.

TROY AUTOIST DIED FROM INJURIES RECEIVED SUNDAY

Gustave Peterson of Troy, who was seriously injured early Sunday morning at the Congdon culvert, died Tuesday noon at the Berts Sanitarium, Saugerties, where he was taken after the accident. Peterson, it is said, drove his Buick roadster into the culvert. A fractured skull and internal injuries caused death.

2 Persons Reported Killed.

Tokio, July 7. Eight persons are reported to have been killed by landslides due to extremely heavy rains in western Japan, according to despatches to the vernacular papers. Numerous houses and bridges are reported to have collapsed and 7,000 acres of farm lands have been inundated.

Search Under Way For Successor To Gen. Andrews

Major General O'Ryan and Franklin D'Oller Under Consideration For "Dry" Post—Withholds Resignation Until Work is Completed.

Washington, July 7.—With General Lincoln C. Andrews's letter of resignation as prohibition director temporarily pigeon-holed on Secretary Mellon's desk, a quiet search already has been undertaken by administration officials to select his successor, it became known today.

Major General John O'Ryan, who commanded the 77th Division in France, and Franklin D'Oller, former head of the American Legion, are both under consideration. Their names were proposed by General Andrews himself in his final conference with Secretary Mellon, at which he presented his resignation, and then was prevailed upon to withhold it until his return from England.

Secretary Mellon, it was learned today, was greatly disturbed by General Andrews's letter. This missive, slightly more than 200 words, set forth that upon his return from England the reorganization of the prohibition enforcement system would be completed. After pointing out that this reorganization was his real mission when he accepted the post, the letter concluded that General Andrews wished to be Mellon between now and September "relieved" at the pleasure of Mr. 1.

Coolidge Informed.

Mr. Mellon left the Treasury and went immediately to the White House and informed the President of General Andrews's decision. The President was equally disturbed and requested the Secretary of the Treasury to prevail upon General Andrews to withhold acting at this time. Mr. Mellon then returned to the Treasury and summoned General Andrews to his office.

He informed the prohibition head it is understood, that both the President and himself considered the announcement of his resignation at this time to be inopportune. Mr. Mellon pointed out that should the resignation be accepted at this time, and announcement of it made, it might affect the success of Gen. Andrews's mission to England, the purpose of which is to effect a treaty agreement with Great Britain under which liquor-laden British ships will be denied clearance for American destinations. It was pointed out that Gen. Andrews's prestige as a negotiator would not be enhanced by his new role as a resigned official.

No Final Answer.

The fact that the campaign is now getting under way was also stressed in the conference, it is understood. Administration officials are desirous of avoiding any complications in the already hectic wet-dry row before November, and they foresaw a veritable scramble for Gen. Andrews's job in the midst of the campaign.

Gen. Andrews left Washington without giving any final answer to Mr. Mellon, it is understood. The director, however, privately told his personal friends before leaving that his decision was "irrevocable," and that he intended reuring as soon as possible after returning from Europe in middle August.

Withholds Resignation.

New York, July 7.—General Lincoln C. Andrews, assistant secretary of the treasury in charge of prohibition enforcement, sailing early today for London to negotiate a new agreement with regard to Anglo-American cooperation for the prevention of liquor smuggling, expressed the hope that discussion of his forthcoming resignation would not injure his negotiations with Great Britain.

General Andrews while stating that he is not resigning now was not unequivocal in his statement. It appeared that he had decided to withhold announcement of his resignation until he had completed his negotiations with Great Britain.

"I started to build up a new organization and I will not leave it until it is working smoothly," General Andrews said. "I have agreed to stay until the changes necessitated by the Second Deficiency Bill can be put into effect. Next fall, probably in September, I expect the organization will be complete.

Will it take longer than September for you to get your organization perfected so that you can leave it then if you wish to" General Andrews was asked.

"It should not," he replied.

Friends who discussed the situation with General Andrews were convinced that he offered his resignation yesterday but later upon pressure from the White House and Secretary Mellon, agreed to withhold it until after the British negotiations had been completed.

LIST FORD AS ONE OF THREE GREATEST

Geneva, July 7.—Henry Ford is considered one of the three greatest men in the world by modern youth, according to the results of a survey made by the International Y. M. C. A.

A report of the survey will be made at the Y. M. C. A. conference to be held in Helsingfors in August.

The report shows that a preponderance of young men cited Ford as an example of the efficiency which brings wealth.

Elevated Trains Bombarded—No Injuries Reported

Stones and Half Bricks are Showered Down on Elevated Trains Marking First Serious Disorders in Subway Strike—Elevated Service Taking Care of Traffic.

New York, July 7.—The first serious disorders incident to the subway strike occurred today when stones and half bricks were showered down on elevated trains from the roofs of nearby buildings. No one was injured. The bombardment took place at Columbus avenue and 196th street.

The outbreak, the first of its kind since the strike got under way more than thirty-six hours ago, was reported at Interborough headquarters where it was described as one of the few surface indications of trouble.

Less Hardship Today.

The second day of the strike brought less hardship, confusion and inconvenience, during the morning rush hours. The 2,500,000 who habitually use the Interborough utilized other means of the transportation and got to work in reasonably good time.

Elevated service, apparently 100 per cent effective, bore the burdens of added traffic without noticeable hitch. Extra street cars, busses and taxicabs also helped relieve the traffic jam.

Denial was made that the strike was spreading. The Interborough Rapid Transit Company announced there was no truth in reports that 104 motormen and switchmen on elevated lines had joined the walkout.

Strike leaders, meanwhile, prepared to lay before Mayor James J. Walker and the Transit Commission their complaints against the emergency service.

From various sources came pleas for arbitration of the issue. This suggestion was spurned by the company.

During the peak of a jam at East Fourteenth Street Station, the milling crowds which had been unable to force their way into the cars, pushed George Voight, sixty-one, against a moving train. He suffered minor contusions of the head.

Neither Side Yielding.

Neither side is showing any signs of yielding.

Frank Hedley, president and general manager of the Interborough, reiterated his refusal to arbitrate or mediate with the strikers' organization, the Consolidated Railroad Workers.

Edward P. Lavin, chairman of the union, expressed confidence in the outcome of the walk-out. He said the strike was 95 per cent effective and gave the number of strikers as over 600.

Both unionists and employers have refused offers of arbitration submitted from various sources, including that of James J. Brady, director of the bureau of industrial relations, state labor department.

40 to 50 Per Cent Normal.

Check-up of the service taken at various points by inspectors of the transit commission and reporters revealed a service from forty to fifty per cent of normal. President Hedley, in an official statement, said the service was sixty per cent, and would improve as the crew of strike breakers, exceeding 700, began working in earnest.

All trains were being operated under heavy police guard and with great caution.

James L. Quackenbush, counsel for the Interborough, refused to be stampeded by the report that elevated employes had joined the strikers.

"We're not much worried about any of the elevated men walking out," he said. "If the whole group joins the strikers we will be able to take care of the service without them. Up to the present only three elevated men have left the service."

GERMAN PRESS AROUSED OVER PILSUDSKI'S STAND

Berlin, July 7.—Great excitement has been aroused in the German press by the publication of an article in Marshal Pilsudski's newspaper urging that every Polish home be made a fortress and that Poland make new claims for territory which she failed to secure under the Versailles Treaty.

The opposition press charges that Marshal Pilsudski is making preparations for war, on a large scale.

1,000 ROUTED FROM HOMES IN WORCESTER FIRE.

Worcester, Mass., July 7.—More than 1,000 persons were routed from their homes when fire threatened to destroy the French Hill district here today.

Five buildings were gutted by the flames, officials estimating the damage at exceeding $50,000.

Three small children were carried from a tenement house to the street by firemen.

Floods Menace Mexico City.

Mexico City, July 7.—Floods are now menacing Mexico City. Today many of the suburban areas and surrounding territory, except that to the southwest are covered with water which threatens to pour into the capital city. Several outlying villages are either wholly or partially under water. Hundreds of homes have been abandoned and crops have been washed out.

School Tax Is Fixed at $10 By Aldermen

Common Council Adopts Board of Education Budget of $217,634.07—Baptists Oppose Sunday Movies—Raichle Seeks $700 Damages—Other Matters Before Council Tuesday Evening.

The school tax rate for this year was fixed at $10 per thousand valuation by the common council Tuesday evening when it adopted the budget of the board of education calling for the raising by tax levy of $217,634.07. The usual resolution directing the laying of the tax levy was also unanimously adopted. The school tax rate this year is $2 lower than last year's rate which was $12 per thousand valuation.

Opposes Sunday Movies.

All of the aldermen were present at the meeting Tuesday evening with the exception of Aldermen Radel and O'Reilly, both of whom had been excused. Alderman Radel is still confined to his home with a broken leg sustained while at work on the Hiltebrant shipyard.

City Clerk A. A. Styles read a communication from the Wurts Street Baptist Church in which it was stated that at a congregational meeting a resolution was unanimously adopted that the congregation go on record as opposed to Sunday movies in Kingston. The communication was referred to the laws and rules committee who are still considering the proposed Sunday movie ordinance introduced some time ago by Alderman Clare of the Eighth ward.

Raichle Seeks $700.

Judge Robert G. Groves, attorney for Henry Raichle, filed a claim against the city for $700 for damages Mr. Raichle claims he sustained by the breaking of a city water pipe which flooded his land in the town of Ulster with quick-sand and water. The claim was referred to the auditing committee and the corporation counsel.

Corporation Counsel Reports.

Corporation Counsel James Jenkins submitted his report of the result of litigation against the city from May 1 to July 1, as follows:

Gold vs. City of Kingston, an action for $100,000. Verdict of "No cause of action."

Cobb vs. City of Kingston, an action for $2,500. Verdict "No cause of action."

Hauck vs. city of Kingston, an action for $2,500. Verdict of $230 awarded plaintiff which together with costs amounts to $370.27. The time to appeal the verdict expires July 25. The verdict was evidently a compromise one and if it had been larger would advise an appeal but costs of new trial would be more than the amount of the present judgment. The small verdict makes determination of action favorable to city.

People ex. rel. Central Hudson Steamboat Company vs. Martin, assessor. "Trial before Virgil Van Wagonen, referee. Contention of city sustained. Referee's report confirmed. Judgment entered thereon; on this July 2 we received check for $2,111.33 for 1926 taxes."

The report was approved by the common council and placed on file. By approving the report the Hauck verdict against the city will not be appealed.

Motions and Resolutions.

The following motions and resolutions were introduced and referred to the proper city boards:

Alderman Flannery—That holes in Wilbur avenue be filled and street oiled; that Davis street be repaired and oiled.

Alderman Neice—That board of public works fill holes in Van Buren street; that board of public works place catch basin at about 28 Van Deusen street; that board of public works fill holes in Henry street.

Alderman Sharkey—That holes in Washington avenue, between North Front street and Linderman avenue be filled; that board of public works rebuild Janet street.

Alderman Haines—That traffic standard be placed at juncture of Albany avenue and East St. James street.

Alderman Clare—That Rapid Hose Company be given permission to hold block party on Hone street on July 12, that dead tree be removed at corner of Adams and West Pierpont street; that New street be repaired.

Alderman Everett—That holes be filled in Marius street and Josephine avenue.

Bills and claims were read and the council then adjourned for two weeks.

NON-STOP FLIGHT FROM SEATTLE TO SAN DIEGO

San Francisco, July 7.—The giant naval seaplane, PN-1, today was winging her way southward on a non-stop flight from Seattle to San Diego.

Radiograms to naval headquarters reported that the plane, which is carrying a crew of five men, took off from San Point Aviation Field, Seattle, at 3:45 this morning.

If all goes well on the flight the plane expects to land at San Diego bay home port, by 5 o'clock today.

Destroyers have been stationed along the Washington, Oregon and California coast line to assist the plane in case she is forced down.

The PN-1 one month attempt a flight to Hawaii if her test today is successful, it was said in naval quarters.

Federation Pays Tribute to Parker

National Civic Federation Speakers and Committee Praise Noted Ulster County Jurist, Who Was President of The Organization.

Tributes to the memory of Alton B. Parker and Oscar S. Straus were made at the last executive committee meeting of the National Civic Federation, of which the two men were former officers. The meeting was held on July 1, and the remarks and resolutions adopted at that time were made public Sunday.

Frederick R. Coudert, one of the speakers, said.

"There was that about Judge Parker, which to me, if I am capable of analyzing it, constitutes a very great asset in our American life. He embodied those qualities which I like to think of as peculiarly American. He was possessed of a courageous optimism; he was replete with the feeling that in the end human effort is worth while, that the amelioration of human abuses is certain and that honest, well-meaning men can do much. This was due not only to a breadth of vision and knowledge of human affairs, but to a natural kindliness of heart, a moral understanding surpassing mere intellectual understanding which made him the man he was."

The committee on resolutions, consisting of Dr. Talcott Williams, chairman; Archibald E Stevenson, Mrs. Coffin Van Rensselaer and Hugh Frayne, submitted a report which was unanimously approved and which in part is as follows.

"The Hon. Alton Brooks Parker, after a long life of public service, in the course of which he became Chief Justice of the New York State Court of Appeals, an office he surrendered in 1904 to accept the Democratic nomination for President, devoted all the time he could spare from an active practice of the law to aid in the solution of the current problems of vital public interest; first, as an active member of the National Civic Federation, and, later, as its president, from July, 1919, until his death on May 10, 1926.

"The qualities of firmness, courage and liberality which had marked his career as a public servant fitted him to assert a bold and unflinching leadership in dealing with the great questions of today. His judgment was not warped in any desire to curry public favor or to attract public notice. His opinions on all political, social and economic questions were reached only after he had diligently sought to ascertain the facts and had applied a calm, judicial analysis to their interpretation. For this reason his conclusions frequently surprised both liberals and conservatives alike."

Matthew Woll, acting president of federation, who presided at the meeting, said:

"I need hardly mention the sad events which have transpired to make this meeting necessary. I refer to the passing of our president, Judge Alton B. Parker, and also to that of the Hon Oscar S. Straus, a member of our executive committee.

"I feel that in the death of Judge Parker, not only as the president of the National Civic Federation, but likewise, as a citizen of the United States we have all sustained a great loss. I think that all will agree that in the judicial and legal field he reached his eminent position by reason of his competency and high attainments. In his work through the civic federation he has reached a high position in the minds of labor and also of those whom we choose to call the employer or capitalistic group. In his work as president of this organization we see again his great human kindliness which was manifested in all of his activities and decisions, so that we of the labor movement feel a distinct loss in the passing of Judge Parker.

"I am sure the same feeling is entertained in the hearts and minds of those whom, as I have said before, we choose to call employers or capitalists, although, after all, we are all citizens of one great nation no matter what our station of life may be."

KRUMVILLE.

Divorces Granted American Women

Paris, July 7.—Divorces were today granted to several American women, prominent in American society.

Mrs. Edward Beach Condon, the former Miss Caroline Stevens, daughter of one of the oldest families in the United States and descendant of the founders of Stevens Institute, Hoboken, was granted a divorce from her husband. Petition for the divorce was filed June 28.

Mrs. Barclay Warburton, Jr., the former Rosamonde Lancaster, of New York and Philadelphia, was granted a divorce from her husband, the grandson of the late John Wanamaker. The divorce petition was filed June 28. The Warburtons were married in 1919.

Mrs. William Drew Dittmar, the former Miss Margaret Mackenzie, was granted a divorce from her husband. The Dittmars were married in 1904 and have held residences in New York.

HOSPITALITY'S HIGH COST NOT CONFINED TO BOSTON

A recent issue of the New York Law Review says: The newspapers record the result of a recent prosecution under the Volstead Act, which involves implications so interesting as to invite and justify comment in our columns. According to these reports, Mr. Philip J. Green is a Boston cotton broker, who desired, recently, to entertain sixty of his friends. To this end invitations were issued for a party at the Copley Plaza Hotel. The gathering was a convivial one, well attended and much enjoyed, though whether last minute regrets reduced the number of those entertained below sixty we are not informed. At all events, cocktails and wine were served, if not by the bathtubful, with sufficient lavishness to excite the envy, malice and uncharitableness of some uninvited person, possibly one who had sought, but failed, to crash the function.

At all events, information was placed before the federal authorities, and indictment of the host and his bootlegger followed in due course. It is upon the details of the indictment, to which Mr. Green, the host, pleaded guilty, that we wish to lay a certain stress. These were that for the sixty fortunate guests, Mr. Green had provided, by arrangement with a Mr. Abraham Gordon, who was paid $1,200, just fifteen cases of champagne and one case of gin. Going back in our memories some seven or eight years, we recall dimly and perhaps wistfully, that in suitable admixture with orange juice, a bottle of gin will produce about sixteen adult cocktails. Multiply this by twelve, or the number of bottles in the single case of gin, and we have a total of 192 cocktails, or an average of about 3-1/5 cocktails to each guest. With appetites thus enhanced and spirits thus stimulated, dinner was begun, and recourse had to the supply of champagne. This consisted of fifteen cases, or three quarts to the guest.

Hospitality so bountiful would do credit to any era or nation or city or occasion, and Mr. Green, upon his plea of guilty, was let off with a $200 fine.

We are sure that such a host will never lack ardent friends or enthusiastic guests at his parties. But should he not seek broader fields and more signal social triumphs than can be offered in Boston? We should say that New York city is the place for a gentleman of the breadth, depth, capacity and pronounced social qualifications of Mr. Green. He is therefore invited to come to New York, to enjoy life himself, and to bring joy into the lives of his friends, and is invited to invite to his functions here a guest or two from a list that we could give him.

New York beckons you, Brother Green; New York would welcome you as its own.

MILTON.

Milton, July 7.—Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bruneo of New York spent the holiday and week end at the home of Mrs. Alice Crowell.

Edward B. Goehringer and friend, Miss Anna Dalton of Brooklyn spent the holiday and week end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Goehringer.

Miss Mary Conroy, a teacher at the East Hampton School, is home for the summer vacation.

Miss Helen Hurn of the Benedictine Hospital at Kingston has been spending her two weeks vacation at the home of her parents, the Rev and Mrs. J. A. Hurn on Sands avenue.

Cuyler Hyde of Brooklyn was a recent guest at the home of his sister, Miss Anna Hyde.

Miss Natalie McManus of Tuckahoe is spending the summer vacation at the home of her mother, Mrs. Winifred McManus.

Mrs. F. W. Risers of Jacksonville, Florida, is spending the summer at Woolsey Villa.

Mrs. I. Purdy of Yonkers is visiting at the home of her brother, Theodore Rhoades.

The Ladies Needle Craft and Women's Missionary Society will hold a meeting in the parlor of the Presbyterian Church this afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs Ward Crowell and daughter, Helen, of Haverstraw visited at the home of Mrs. H. V. Briesse and attended the boat races last Monday, June 28.

Miss Amelia Romer and Mrs Etta Thorn were visitors in Poughkeepsie last Friday afternoon.

The Rev M J Tighe, pastor of St. James Church, has gone to Europe where he will spend the summer. He will visit France, England and friends and relatives in Ireland.

The Girl Scouts now have two troops Eleanor Young is patrol leader of one troop and Margaret Morin is her corporal and LaVerne Patten was elected corporal. Angelina Pantusco was elected patrol leader of the other troop. Eleanor Young and Margaret Morin received their second class pins Eleanor Young received her captain's badge and Margaret Morin her corporal's badge.

The second season for the Elverhoj players at the Elverhoj Art Colony in Milton began Saturday evening. The play given on that evening was Frederick Lonsdale's "Ain't We All." The setting of the play is in England.

The State Troopers brought five motorists before Justice Edward A. Martin last week for violation of the traffic laws.

A drive on head lights which are not in compliance with legal standards will be conducted by state inspectors in this section this week.

The food sale given by the Ladies' Aid Society Saturday afternoon, June 26, netted $45.

The Maids and Matrons entertained the Men's Club last Tuesday evening at the Community House. There was a very large attendance. Refreshments were served and the Juvenile Merry Makers of Poughkeepsie furnished the music. The moving picture, "A Son of His Father" was put on the screen. One member of the orchestra danced the Charleston during the entertainment. A very enjoyable evening was spent by all present.

WEST PARK.

West Park, July 7.—Our community like many others in the neighborhood of the Catskills was full of visitors over the Fourth. At "Top o' the Hill" were Mrs. Long and Mr. and Mrs. Westerfield and daughter of Glen Ridge, N. J. At "Heartease" were Mrs. Drummond, Mrs. Gibson, Miss Melvin, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Jennings and son, all of New York. At George Hasbrouck's, Mr. and Mrs. Hasbrouck of New York. At Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Overrocker's many friends from White Plains. At Mr. and Mrs. Harry Terwilliger's and at Mrs. Estella Travis, friends from out of town, and at Mrs. Caroline Gindret's, Mrs. Taylor of Brooklyn.

Mr. and Mrs. George Atkins and Mrs. E. W. Burroughs and son of Poughkeepsie were Sunday guests of Mrs. Melissa Atkins.

Miss Helen Sheldon and John Griffiths of Kingston and Mr. Morgan of New York were Sunday guests at the rectory.

Roy Terwilliger has taken a position at a summer hotel at Stamford.

Miss Van Benschoten after a winter spent in the south is visiting her brother, William H. Van Benschoten.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Edgerton and son of New York stopped at the rectory on Thursday while on their way to Franklin.

While visiting his sister, Mrs. Melissa Atkins, on Sunday, George Relyea of Newburgh met with a very painful accident and had to be taken to the Newburgh Hospital. His collar bone and possibly his leg were broken.

Miss Elizabeth Burroughs and Miss Ursula Burroughs, daughters of Julian Burroughs and granddaughters of the late John Burroughs, expect to sail for Europe next Saturday.

Crushed Between Two Automobiles

W. W. Potts, Catskill Plumbing Contractor, Injured Tuesday Afternoon on Strand When His Car Runs Ahead Pinning Him Between It and Another Car.

W. W. Potts, a plumbing and heating contractor of Catskill, was injured Tuesday afternoon when caught and crushed between his own car and another on the Strand. He had stopped at the Canfield Supply Company store to transact some business and coming out he started to crank his car while it was in gear. The car suddenly started ahead and he was crushed between his own car and another truck parked at the curb.

He was picked up and rushed to the Benedictine Hospital where he was examined by Dr. John F. Larkin who found that Potts had sustained a crushed hip and lacerations of the leg. Later in the day the injured man was removed to his home in Catskill in an automobile.

Auto Struck Boy.

George J. Gess of 24 Cordts street reported to the police department Tuesday evening that his auto had struck James Turck, a boy residing on North street, who was riding a bicycle. The bicycle was damaged but the boy was uninjured.

No Decision in Subway Case

The Freeman this afternoon communicated with the office of the Public Service Commission in regard to a report that has been current about town to the effect that a decision had been made in the matter of the application of the Kingston Consolidated Railway to discontinue the subway and use the grade crossing over the West Shore tracks on Broadway. The office of the Commission had no record of such a decision being made.

Superintendent TeBow of the railroad company also stated that he had received no notice of any decision in regard to the matter.

Society Notes

Lange—Dauben.

Otto Lange, Jr., of Bergenfield, N. J., formerly of this city, was married in New Lork city on Saturday, July 3, to Miss Annie Dauben, of the Bronx. The bride was charmingly gowned in white satin and carried pink roses. The newly married couple were tendered a reception at the home of the bride's parents in New York city, following the ceremony. They received many handsome gifts from relatives and friends, a number of whom attended the wedding, going from Newark, New Milford, Conn., and from Kingston. The groom is well known here, having resided in Ponckhockie for a long time, being a grandson of Mrs. Mollie Lange of East Strand. He is now employed as a mail clerk in the Pennsylvania station in New York city. After their return from a wedding trip to Saratoga, the newly wedded couple will reside in Bergenfield, N. J., where a furnished home awaits them.

Ackert-Pine.

A very pretty wedding took place in Fourth Binnewater on Wednesday, June 16, at 2:30 o'clock, when Miss Helen Pine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Pine of Binnewater, became the bride of Harry Ackert, son of Mrs. A. Ackert, of Poughkeepsie, the Rev. G. H. Cheseborough, of Poughkeepsie, officiating. The bride who came in on the arm of her father and who also gave her away, wore a beautiful dress of Harding Blue crepe trimmed with grey and carrying a bouquet of white Irish roses. Miss Edna Countryman of Kingston, looked very pretty in a peach colored crepe, wearing a large picture hat and carrying a bouquet of pink Irish roses. Julius Chambers of Poughkeepsie was best man. After the ceremony a luncheon was served, the bride and groom then leaving for a trip to New York and other places. The bride received many pretty and valuable gifts. Among the guests were Christopher Stokes, grandfather of the bride, Mrs. A. Ackert, Mr. and Mrs. George Ackert and son, Mrs. A. Pine, Mr. and Mrs. Lenville Relyea and son, Miss L. Barley, Mr. and Mrs. C. Wells and son, Mrs. F. Steen, M. G. Stokes, Mrs. M. Stokes, Mr. and Mrs. A. Weise, Mr. and Mrs. C. OLD OFFICERS OF THE ATANEO ARRESTED

Hendaye, France, July 7.—Vice President Gimimez Assua and twenty other former officers of the Ataneo were arrested today in Madrid, amidst tense scenes, according to word received here from Madrid.

The Ataneo was alleged to have been the center of the recent liberal plot against the government and all of the officers were ordered to resign by the government and a new board of officers was appointed by the government.

The government appointed officers arrived at the Ataneo at 9:45 this morning, prepared to take over their duties.

Vice President Assua and twenty other former officers refused to withdraw or to recognize the new officers.

Under the leadership of President Soto Reguera the new officers then withdrew and the police entered and arrested the old officers.

Crowds gathered and acclaimed Assua and his comrades as they were led to jail.

HATRED OF AMERICA

"America is not hated abroad; it is loathed," a business man returning from Continental Europe is quoted, and an American writing from England to a club man is said to have advised him not to cross the Atlantic during his vacation, for "your best friend here will invite you for the week end and spend it sticking pins into you; fellow guests stop little short of insult." With a knowledge of such conditions, a speaker before the recent convention of the Associated Advertising Clubs in Philadelphia proposed "a world survey seeking to analyze the underlying causes of ill-feeling toward America and to spread the facts before the American people, to the end that the causes of this distrust and resentment may be removed. But it would appear from all the accounts that a sufficient "survey" has already been made, and certainly "the facts" have already been "spread before the American people" to a not inconsiderable extent.

As for the removal of "the causes of distrust and resentment," that would not be easy, even if every American going to Europe were cautioned to be particularly polite and considerate and a very great effort were otherwise made. The mischief is done, and it is much easier for well-intentioned Americans to deplore it than to find a remedy. The New York Times reveals shrewd insight into the real situation when it says: "When we succeeded to the position of England as the strongest of nations, and our citizens swarmed abroad as Englishmen once did to look down upon inferior races, it was certain that we should succeed also to the odium. The world may or may not love a lover, but its hatred of a creditor is inveterate. True, we have shown wisdom in scaling down the debts. But we have not been able to scale down vituperation of our politicians. We are the world's creditor and we make a noise like one."

CAN SUCH THINGS BE?

According to a surprising Associated Press dispatch of June 29, "the extent to which the invading manners and customs of a new generation have been accepted as part of the modern scene has been strikingly reflected, in New York at least, in that traditional last resort of conservatism—the Court." It is further stated that many of the new practices, "the public petting party, the cocktail party, the 'nude art' dance and the 'hootchie-kootchie,' have won recognition and toleration in judicial decisions." Such doings may be "easily misconstrued," Justice Ford is quoted as saying, and as for cocktail parties, even his own daughter attends them and tells him about them. Summing it up, Magistrate Brodsky said that years ago such conduct "might have been wrong, but now the people want it." The people? Are there not—fortunately—still people and people?

Max D. Steiner, a "leading member of the New York bar," is quoted as saying that "women's rights have grown, and their political franchise is only a part of their privileges and prerogatives." In regard to one of their new "privileges" he amazingly added: "The 'lounge lizard' has become a welcome consort of wives of tired business men, and conduct which a few years ago would have branded a married woman as a social outcast is now accepted as conventional." Accepted by whom? By those who "want it" or by "the people" generally? If some of these assertions are not sweeping to the point of wild extravagance, they ought to be. If such views have been invaded courts of law, the citizen still with some scraps of conservatism can only marvel and ask, Can such things be?

On June 26 the ninth anniversary of the first landing of American troops in France was celebrated at St. Nazaire by a procession of French and American sailors, speeches by Ambassador Herrick and Minister of Marine Leygues, and the unveiling of a commemorating monument representing a doughboy carried by an eagle. Such a design was not inappropriate, for the sending of a small force to France within less than three months after our declaration of war (to inspirit well-nigh exhausted France), the transport of a million soldiers within a year from that time, and within a few weeks more still another million, was an American achievement that amazed the world, and indeed suggested the wings of an eagle, if not a very miracle.

According to the reports the rush to receive prompt sentence and get into Sing Sing before July 1 resembled the rush to the seashore to spend a hot Fourth of July weekend. For convicts managing to enter the famous prison before that date were sure of the benefits of the existing laws governing sentences, paroles and commutation of terms, while those entering after July 1 will miss some of the old soft privileges and come under the rigors of new enactments designed with a view to discourage crime.

That Body of Yours

KEEPING YOUNG.

Everybody is interested in the matter of keeping young. The arteries really tell your age, and if you were to give them the same thought as you do your food, exercise and sleep, you could keep "young" for many years longer than you otherwise would.

What are the arteries anyway?

Arteries carry the blood away from the heart. They have an elastic coat and it is this elasticity that maintains an even pressure as the blood courses through them. If these tubes or arteries were composed of tissue that did not yield to the pressure of the blood, then you can imagine how hard the heart would have to work, to force the blood through them to distant parts of the body and back.

What makes arteries hard?

Something takes the place of the elastic tissue, this something being a sort of a lime deposit, which in addition to making the artery hard and non elastic also lessens the size of the tube or artery, and naturally the blood will have to be pumped harder to go through this non elastic smaller tube.

Some folks seem to inherit the tendency to hard arteries, but more frequently it is because they live the same kind of life as that of the parent. That is overindulgence in eating and drinking. Those will bring on overweight, gout, heart and kidney ailments, which in turn affect the lining of the arteries.

If for instance either of your parents had suffered with high blood pressure with its attendant disorders of kidney, heart or brain, then you don't have to follow in their footsteps. Indeed the lesson there is to simply not "walk in father's (or mother's) footsteps." Now the couse of this lime deposit is that something has inflamed the lining of the tube. Inflammation from some ailment such as pneumonia or typhoid, or poisons from the tonsils, teeth, or gall bladder will of course be in the blood, and as it courses through the vessels it actually inflames them somewhat, resulting in the hardening by the deposit of a limy substance.

It is not unusual for a number of members of a family to show this hardening at 45 to 50 years of age and have a stroke of paralysis or other condition resulting therefrom, whilst other members of the same family by watchful care as to diet, outdoor exercise, and freedom from worry, have been able to avoid it.

In other words, you do not necessarily have to have arteries like your parents even if you do have to have other characteristics as to color of hair, eyes, and so forth.

What Eyebrows Were for

Eyebrows, which are now merely ornamental on humans, were once "bushes" of hair which served the two-fold purpose of shielding the eyes from the sun's rays and of holding back the perspiration on the forehead to keep it from trickling into the eyes.

Today's Story in New York History

The Abolition Riots Provoked by Slavery Question, Broke Out in New York City July 7, 1834.

Most of the riots of New York, and other great cities, have grown out of causes more of less local but those arising from the formation of Abolition Societies, and the discussion of emancipation, were of a different character, and confined to no locality or time.

The Abolitionists in New York were a small and inconsiderable body when, in the agitation of politics, they began to attract attention to their opinions and purposes.

Attempts had been made by the friends of William Lloyd Garrison, who in 1832 had established the American Anti-Slavery Society, in the autumn of 1833, to promote an anti-slavery agitation by public meetings and addresses.

There was a large business class in New York city directly concerned in trade with the Southern States, and naturally opposed to any exciting discussion of this subject. In the unruly element of any large city there are always men to be found ready for violent measures, especially in any cause that had the support of popular favor.

After Garrison's return from England, an anti-slavery meeting was called in Clinton Hall, October 2, 1833. An attempt was made to break up this gathering, which resulted in the dispersal of the audience.

The next summer the excitement broke out afresh, when on the evening of July 7, 1834, an assemblage of colored persons of both sexes gathered at Chatham Street Chapel to listen to a sermon from a negro preacher.

The New York Sacred Music Society had leased the building for certain evenings in the week, of which it was asserted this was one. Justice Lowndes, of the Police Court, was president, and Dr. Rockwell, vice president of the society. They demanded that the negroes should leave. But the latter, having hired and paid for it, refused to do so, when a fight ensued, in which much property was destroyed and many persons seriously injured. The police drove both white and black out together, and locked up the church. Lewis Tappan, a leading Abolitionist, was followed to his home with hooting and threats, and his house was stoned.

The next evening the mob broke open the chapel door, held an extempore meeting, and on its breaking up proceeded to the Bowery Theatre, whose stage manager, Mr. Farren, was an Englishman and obnoxious to the crowd on account of England's attitude on the slavery question. The mob forced the doors and took possession of the theatre.

The police interfered, when the crowd rushed to the home of Nathan Tappan, a brother of Lewis, which they broke into and sacked. After a fight with the police they made a bonfire of the dilapidated furniture.

Other petty riots followed, with similar scenes of destruction of the property of Abolitionists, until Mayor Lawrence issued a proclamation calling on all good citizens to aid in maintaining the peace. Large bodies of troops were gathered at the arsenal, city hall, and other public buildings.

On the night of July 11, the patrol failed to disperse a mob which had attacked the churches of the Rev. Samuel H. Cox, in Laight street, and of the Rev. Henry G. Ludlow, in Spring street, and the militia were called out, when the 27th Regiment, under Colonel Stevens, marched upon the rioters, and broke through barricades they had thrown up, and the mob broke in every direction.

Meanwhile there was another riot at the Five Points, where the mob committed depredations and burned buildings on a more extensive scale. Here the rioters had their own way for several hours. They destroyed St. Philip's Church, in Center street, occupied by a colored congregation.

The mayor was at the city hall all night, doing what he could, but the mob by this time had become organized and committed their acts in concert.

The following morning the mayor issued another proclamation, calling on the citizens to report to him to be organized in companies to aid the police. All the local militia companies were ordered out, as were all the fire companies.

The rioters saw that their rule was ended. Besides, nearly two hundred of the most notorious ringleaders had been put in prison. The lawless spirit was crushed out, and in a few days the city presented its usual appearance.

What a "drag" will do

A DRAG on your jimmy-pipe, loaded to the guards with Prince Albert, will give you an entirely new idea of how good a pipe can taste when you put it on the proper diet. It will revise all your notions about the grand old pastime of pipe-smoking. Make the test!

This very day, get yourself a tidy red tin of P. A. and tuck a load into the business end of your pipe. Light up and pull that wonderful smoke up the stem. Notice how cool it tastes, whether you feed it fast or slow. Notice how sweet and mellow it is. Good old P. A.!

When you open the tin, the aroma that greets you is richly fragrant . . . the breath of real, honest-to-goodness tobacco. An aromatic promise of the smoke-pleasure to come. You'll never forget that taste when you light up. Nothing else is like it anywhere.

No matter how satisfied you think you are, give P. A. a whirl in your jimmy-pipe. Millions of smoke-happy men will tell you that P. A. will give you more pleasure to the cubic inch than any tobacco you ever smoked. There's a P. A. sunshine-shop just across the way!

P. A. is sold everywhere in tidy red tins, pound and half-pound tin humidors, and pound crystal-glass humidors with sponge-moistener top. And always with every bit of bite and parch removed by the Prince Albert process.

How to Make Finer Flavored Jams and Jellies

Every woman knows that the longer fruit is cooked the more its bright color fades and darkens and its delicate, fresh flavor drifts away in steam.

That is why the new short-boil method of making jams and jellies with Certo delights so many women. For with Certo your fruit jells perfectly with only one or two minutes' boiling. "My jams and jellies taste just like fresh fruit," women say when they use Certo. Or again—"My strawberry jam tastes enough like fresh berries to use in strawberry shortcake."

More than six million women now make their jams and jellies this modern Certo way.

Certo is a pure fruit product—the jellying substance of fruit refined and bottled. A book of simple, tested recipes for all sorts of delicious jams, jellies and marmalades comes with each bottle.

Your grocer carries Certo, or you can send 10c (for postage) and get a trial half-size bottle which will make from 6 to 10 glasses of jam or jelly, depending upon the recipe used. Address Douglas-Pectin Corporation, 5494 Granite Building, Rochester, N. Y.

Women Tell

Others how this new hygienic pad discards easily as tissue — no laundry

BECAUSE one woman so advises others, and because doctors so urge, most women are deserting the old-time "sanitary pad" for a new and better way.

Eight in 10 better-class women now use "KOTEX."

✓ Discards as easily as a piece of tissue. No laundry. No embarrassment.

Five times as absorbent as ordinary cotton pads.

Deodorizes, thus ending ALL danger of offending.

Obtainable at all drug and department stores simply by saying "KOTEX." You ask for it without hesitancy.

Package of 12 costs only a few cents. Proves old ways a needless risk. In fairness to yourself, try it.

Beige, Gray Worn by Chic Sub-Debs

Three and Four-Piece Combinations Are in Favor for Sports Wear.

There is nothing to which the Parisienne pays closer attention than the dress of her debutante daughter. This, observes a fashion writer in the New York Herald-Tribune, is easily understood. For the well-brought-up young girl in France is allowed little or no freedom until she has been led to the altar, and the family makes many sacrifices to provide her with the necessary dot without which she will not easily find a mari.

The vogue for sport has been the salvation of the French jeune fille. It has emancipated her from frocks that were almost nun-like in their simplicity. Now, like her mother, she has the smartest two-piece dresses, and three or four-piece ensembles. As she is usually athletic and glad to indulge in the games for which all women dress nowadays, the French debutante makes beige or gray the foundation of her wardrobe. This makes things easy, for then she may vary it with the pink, blue or green hats she may wear with the more ceremonious dress that serves for a cousin's wedding, a garden party given by a French duchess, or the dansant.

Simplicity, therefore, is the keynote of her wardrobe. Her frocks are straight in line, always retaining the necessary fullness that gives freedom of movement and shows grace by means of plaits that are cleverly arranged at the side and are placed at the center back and front. Her skirts just pass her knees. Her shoes are always simple. She is not allowed to indulge in any of the cubistic fancies of the moment. For outdoor wear she generally has plain brown leather sandals, with a single instep strap, the heel adapted to her size, low if she is very tall, high if she is petite. Like her mother, she always wears beige, flesh-colored silk stockings, or perhaps a silk and woolen mixture for playing golf. With smart frocks or evening gowns she has beige satin pumps.

Nothing Somber About Stylish Black Dresses

The status of black remains unchanged. Earlier in the season it was quite apparent that black had regained its prestige of a few years ago and was destined for a vogue greater than it had ever enjoyed. Summer modes confirm its importance and the black frock, whether it appears in a simple little street model of tailored aspect, a subtle affair of chiffon or georgette designed for afternoon wear, or a frock composed of many flounces of lace for evening is unquestionably the smart frock of the season.

There is nothing somber about the black dresses of this summer, nothing that is dull or uninteresting. So cleverly are they designed and so skillfully fashioned that oftentimes they have far more allure than those of more brilliant colors. Frequently the contrast is achieved by pipings and bandings of a vivid tone.

Cubist Hats

Concentric hats are the latest vogue in London. Some have braiding in dark and bright colors are seen with concentric brims and crowns, the colors of which must be in violent contrast with the suit or frock with which they are worn. Ribbons stray at will across these hats and dangle from unexpected places.

Blouses for Summer

Kipling once said that an oriental never became civilized until he tucked in his shirt. According to that, the blouses to be worn this summer are highly civilized. Except in extraordinary cases the tunic blouse for day wear has given place to the blouse which is worn under the skirt and confined with a belt.

Competitive Melodies

A well-known local bachelor is in an awful quandary to decide whether the baby next door cries to stop its mother from singing, or the mother sings to stop the baby from crying.—Ocala (Fla.) Star.

Eleanor Gunn On Fashions

Color Against a Neutral Background, Says Paris. So Be It, Say We, for It Is Smart for All Occasions, Even for Beach Wear.

The pendulum refuses to learn new tricks, and goes right on swinging as far one way as another. After many seasons—or did it just seem like a very long time that black was the vogue?—"out" went black before advancing ranks of brilliant color. This is the point at which the pendulum may be expected to behave true to form. If it does swing back to black, at least it will swing in the opposite direction from brilliant color. It appears to have paused at a position of nicely balanced contrasts, black, beige, white, or gray as a background, with flashes of interesting, and arresting color introduced in accessories. It has so far been a season of color contrasts and of the combination not only of color, but such materials as sheer and heavy or plain and printed ones.

On the beach, even in the water, this idea persists. The bathing suit, abbreviated though it is sure to be, is more often than not made of two colors, the brighter the better, usually. Biarritz, Deauville and foreign resorts generally report white with blue, white with red, or beige with either, and continue to lay great stress on kashas, balbriggans and novelty woolens, leaving, of course, plenty of room for the omnipresent crepe. It is all very well to look to such resorts for styles worn on the beach, but one looks in vain for those worn in the water, since the swimming suit is the only one not frowned down by French folk.

Our own suits have taken on something of the simplicity of the swimming suit and we have been quick to clutch at the opportunity to wear capes or robes over our bathing costumes, heretofore regarded as complete. Nor are capes confined to bathers. They are found in every smart wardrobe, the officer's cape being a favorite.

OUR DAILY PATTERN.

A Simple Apron Style.

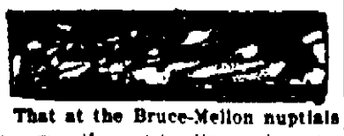
5434. One could make this apron of cretonne, unbleached muslin or gingham. The style is pleasing and comfortable, and is cut in one piece.

The pattern is in one size; medium. To make as illustrated in the large view will require 1¾ yard of 36 inch cretonne, ¼ yard of plain material for facing on the pocket flaps, and 4¾ yards of bias binding to finish the edges.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any person on receipt of 12c in coin or stamps by the Pattern Department, The Freeman, Kingston, N. Y. Be sure to state the size wanted.

Fashion Book Notice.

Send 15c in coin or stamps to The Freeman for our up-to-date Spring and Summer 1926 Book of Fashions, showing color plates, and containing 500 designs of ladies', misses' and children's patterns. A concise and comprehensive article on dressmaking, also some points for the needle illustrating 50 of the various simple stitches. All valuable hints to the home dressmaker.



That at the Bruce-Mellon nuptials lace was the outstanding style note. Not only many of the guests but the bride herself wearing it. Also that large hats were the accepted thing there as elsewhere.

Shades of Burgundy and all red tones are very much in evidence in town and out. Especially is this true of all reported race meets.

All shades of blue are next in importance, blue being worn both night and day in varying shades according to complexion and the occasion.

Scintillating evening gowns, especially those heavily or sparingly spangled, are the most elegant expression just now, chiffons being the usual foundation.

The carnation boutonniere is the smartest Parisian note and one which is being taken up here.

A nautical touch is introduced almost everywhere by the navy double-breasted jacket with brass buttons and a touch sometimes of gold braid. Even in town one notices the members of the younger set have made this their own, usually topping a pleated skirt.

Stockings bordering on gray tones, but very sheer, are being worn more and more.

Pleated skirts and pleated trimmings gain prominence as coats are laid aside. Novelty pleated effects are numerous and no type of dress is immune from this sort of treatment.

Velvet and straw is the outstanding millinery combination of the spring.

Sequin-studded evening gowns are conspicuous at formal functions. This type of trimming is replacing crystal and other beaded effects.

Sheer gowns fashioned along figure-revealing lines are often flower-like in their silhouette and are at present much worn.

The bloused waistline appears for evening, and is especially graceful in chiffon.

Black chiffon pailletted in silver is another interpretation of the effect usually produced by chiffon and crystals or rhinestones.

Belting ribbon is the most popular trimming for hats and it appears also as a banding on coats and dresses.

HOT SOUPS

The expert soup maker will obtain different flavors for the soups she serves by using leftover meats and vegetables.

Corn Chowder.—Try out four tablespoonfuls of fat salt pork cubes, add one sliced onion and cook five minutes, stirring to keep the onion evenly cooked. Parb 1 four cupfuls of potato slices, drain and add the potatoes to the fat and onion, with two cupfuls of boiling water; cook until the potatoes are soft, add a can of corn, a quart of milk, salt, pepper to taste and serve with buttered crackers.

Quick Egg Soup.—Stir a teaspoonful of beef extract into a quart of boiling water, add a grated onion, celery salt, salt and pepper, let the mixture boil up; remove and pour boiling hot over four tablespoonfuls of cooked rice and two well-beaten eggs.

Split Pea Soup.—Wash and put to soak one cupful of split peas in plenty of cold water. Add, after soaking all night, enough water to make two quarts and with a two-inch cube of salt pork and a sliced onion cook until the peas are soft enough to put through a coarse sieve. Thicken if necessary with flour and butter cooked together, add milk or cream and serve well seasoned.

Cream of Peanut Soup.—Add a cupful of peanut butter to a quart of milk, season with salt, cayenne, a tablespoonful of grated onion, a bay leaf, and celery salt, and cook ten minutes. Moisten a tablespoonful of cornstarch with cold milk, stir until smooth, add to the soup and cook ten minutes. Serve with cubes of toasted bread.

Cream Soup.—Put thin slices of bread as thin as shavings with butter in a saucepan to brown. Pour over enough boiling water to make the soup needed, add salt, remove and add a cupful of thick cream; season well and serve hot.

THE MALLARD DUCKS

"Quack, quack, there comes Mr. Drake," said Mrs. Mallard Duck.

Mr. Mallard Duck was usually called Mr Drake.

"There comes my Mr. Drake," said Mrs Morris Mallard Duck, usually called in the duck pond, Mrs. Morris.

"Quack, quack, how handsome all the Mr Drakes are," said Mrs. Mallard Duck, as she waddled around the pond.

"They are indeed, but mine is the most handsome," said Mrs. Morris, quacking very loudly.

"Not a bit of it," said Mrs. Mallard Duck, "mine is the most beautiful.

"Ah, the green head-top he wears with his lovely colors! When the sun catches it the colors look so bright, and so exquisite."

"My dear Mrs. Mallard," said Mrs. Morris, in a softer, quieter quacking voice, "are you ill?

"Does your head ache?

"May I put a little water on your head for you?"

"Why are you so kind to me all of a sudden?" quacked Mrs. Mallard, in a very surprised tone.

"I can't quite understand it."

"There, there," said Mrs. Morris.

"There Comes Mr. Drake."

"Don't bother to talk. It will be all right.

"Calm yourself."

"But I'm not ruffled," Mrs. Mallard persisted.

Just then Mr. Mallard Drake and Mr. Morris Mallard Drake came swimming over to the part of the pond where their wives were.

They are wonderful swimmers and they can also fly very well.

They are very handsome, too.

"Quack, quack, how-do-you-do," said Mr. Morris Mallard and Mr. Mallard.

"Oh, send for a doctor," said Mrs. Morris.

"Poor Mrs. Mallard has had her head touched by the heat.

"She is saying queer things."

"What has she said?" asked Mr. Mallard.

He sounded quite distressed.

"She said that the sun caught your head-top every little while and made many colors shine upon it, or that when the sun caught it the colors looked so bright and so exquisite," explained Mrs. Morris, shaking her head.

"Oh, dear me," said Mr. Mallard, "that's all right.

"I know what she meant.

"She didn't mean that the sun came down and picked up my head-top, nor did she mean that I threw it up to the sun to catch.

"Oh no, she meant that when the sun was shining on my head-top many beautiful colors could be seen."

"But she didn't say shining," persisted Mrs. Morris, "she said catching. She said quite distinctly, 'when the sun catches it.'"

"Oh, but I meant that when the sunlight mingled with the colors—or rather when the sun shone upon the head-top or rather when the sun made the head-top to shine the way jewels shine in the bright sunlight," said Mrs. Mallard.

"You can't expect a duck to always say what she means," said Mr. Mallard.

"Quack, quick, in fact that is almost too much to expect of anyone.

"There are so many words and sometimes they are hard to choose.

"If there were only a few words it might be easier—but again it might be harder.

"We can't, anyway, always think of the right one," said Mr. Mallard.

"But let us cheer up, for we are all in the zoo, and we can't be killed for food.

"In fact we're given lots of food.

"Here comes the keeper now, quack, quack."

"Quack, quack, good cheer," said the others.

Had Room to Play

Dudley, a city youngster, used to a small yard to play in, was delighted with his first trip to the country.

After playing a while the first day he ran into the house and said, "Gee, this is great, mother! It's the first time in my life I've ever had a chance to play all over the earth."

Cause of Boy's Whipping

"What was your father whipping you for last night?" asked one small boy of another.

"Oh," replied the other, "we had an argument about my Sunday school lesson and he was proving to me that the whale actually did swallow Jonah."

BLOOMINGTON.

Bloomington, July 7.—The Ladies' Aid Society will hold their regular meeting in the lecture room at 2 o'clock on Wednesday afternoon of this week. All the ladies of the congregation are invited to these meetings. The society is glad to welcome visitors or new members at any time.

All those who have a part in the Children's Day exercises are asked to meet in the church at 2:30 o'clock on Friday afternoon of this week.

Praise service on Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock. Everyone is cordially invited. Choir rehearsal directly after the service. All those having revival hymn books will please bring them.

The observance of the Lord's Supper will take place next Sunday morning, July 11, at 9:45 o'clock.

The praise service Sunday evening was well attended. Some are planning to attend the prayer meeting at Rosendale Thursday evening and Tillson Friday evening.

Many are looking forward with pleasure to attending the Roble evangelistic meetings beginning in Kingston, Sunday afternoon, July 11.

Mr. Terhune, who has been seriously ill for the past ten days, is slightly improved.

All were glad to hear Mrs. David Meale was improved enough to be brought home and will soon be restored to health.

The village seems to have doubled its population for the holiday, very few homes being without guests. The weather being all that could be desired made the people very happy.

Come along by sea to CORAL GABLES Florida $125

ROUND TRIP FROM NEW YORK

TAKE the ocean route with us on our personally conducted trip to Coral Gables, Florida, the Miami Riviera. Here's an opportunity not to be missed. Sail from New York July 3rd on the Clyde Line steamer "Mohawk." One of the finest vessels afloat. A 3-day cruise to Jacksonville. A dash down the famous East Coast of Florida in a palatial motor-bus — three days and four nights at Coral Gables — the bus again north to Jacksonville—and then that glorious ocean voyage back to New York to round out a marvelous vacation trip.

All for $125

Think of it! It includes your transportation, a stateroom, your meals, your hotel and all the entertainments for which Coral Gables is noted — golf, tennis, swimming, dancing!

Days at sea lazying in a steamer chair—watching the coastwise trade go by — shuffleboard on the after deck — the radio crackling overhead.

Then the St. Johns River and thriving Jacksonville — the motor-bus — St. Augustine, Ormond, Daytona, Palm Beach, Miami, and finally Coral Gables — the most marvelous city in the Americas.

Pythian Grand Lodge Convention

Interesting Program Planned for State Gathering at Saratoga Springs During Week of July 19-26.

The Knights of Pythias Grand Lodge Convention will be held in the city of Saratoga Springs, N. Y., during the week of July 19 to 26 inclusive and judging from the tremendous enthusiasm that is being evinced in Pythian circles throughout the state, it will be the most hugely attended convention of years.

The greatest reason for this sweep of enthusiasm is undoubtedly due to the popularity of Harry Nathan, who is scheduled for the post of Grand Chancellor for the ensuing year and no more energetic or capable man could possibly be chosen for the leadership of the Empire State.

Mr. Nathan has been active in Pythian affairs for the past 35 years, during which time he has gained the love and esteem of thousands of his co-workers throughout this grand domain. In recognition of his untiring efforts, his dauntless fighting spirit for everything that is right and just, and his undoubted ability as an executive, he was elected at the last convention to the second highest office in the state, and is now in line for the grand chancellorship.

William Ladew, the grand keeper of records and seals, and the only supreme chancellor the domain of New York has ever had, declares that the increase in membership during the past year, has been thousands more than that of any other state.

The coming convention will be the 58th of this domain, and no efforts have been spared to make this a great success fraternally, and to provide everyone with a pleasant vacation week. The reservations that have already been received by the hotels indicate a tremendous attendance. The hotels are giving a 50% reduction to Pythians and the Saratoga Chamber of Commerce is collaborating to make this convention live in the memories of all those who attend.

Some of the activities planned for the week:

Monday, July 19, Friendship Day —Reception of representatives and visitors at various headquarters, 8:30 p. m., reception to grand chancellor at Pythian headquarters, Grand Union Hotel. Addresses by prominent speakers. Followed by dancing.

Tuesday, July 20th, 10:00 a. m.—Formal opening of the grand lodge at the Casino. Session to continue during the day. 8:00 p. m., ceremonial of Dramatic Order Knights of Khorassan at City Hall. Dancing at Grand Union Hotel.

Wednesday, July 21, Guest Day—This day will be devoted to entertainment. Excursion to Lake Luzerne as guests of the city of Saratoga Springs and the Grand Lodge of the Domain of New York. Boating, bathing, games and dancing. Return to Saratoga about 6 p. m. 8:00 p. m., conferring of the rank of esquire at the Casino by a special selected team. Dancing in ball room of the Grand Union Hotel.

Thursday, July 22, 10:00 a. m.—Grand Lodge session at the Casino. 11:00 a. m., memorial services at the First Baptist Church of Saratoga Springs. 2:00 p. m., reconvening of the grand lodge at the Casino. 8:30 p. m., dancing at Grand Union Hotel.

Friday, July 23, 10:00 a. m.—Closing session of the Grand Lodge at the Casino.

SHANDAKEN.

Shandaken, July 7.—The following were guests of Edmund Riseley over the holiday week end: William Riseley and family of New York, DeWitt Van Buren and family of Brooklyn, and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Keator and son of Kingston.

The Ladies' Aid Society met at the church hall on Thursday. Among other business transacted, arrangements were made to hold the annual fair on July 22. Mrs. Willard Gulnick and Mrs. Leon Buley served luncheon.

Mr. and Mrs. Matt Benson and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hadden of Troy, N. Y., were guests of H. B. Benson the week end.

Sidney Baldwin, who is employed at Mt. Vernon, N. Y., was with his family over the Fourth.

Mr. and Mrs. Cabble of New York, who have been visiting at W. C. Hommell's, have returned to the city.

Mr. Mac Donald of Canada is visiting his daughter, Mrs. Mason Gossoo.

Mrs. Etta Parker, Mrs. James Parker, Mr. and Mrs. Miles Parker and Kenneth Parker of New York were guests of F. S. Osterhoudt over the Fourth.

Mrs. Harry Deming of Stony Point is visiting her mother, Mrs. Melissa Crisnell, for a few weeks.

Wilbur Misner and family of Prattsville, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Gossoo and family of Marlborough and Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Knight and Miss Josephine Knight of Washington, D. C., were guests of Burr Knight over the week end.

The Christian Endeavor meeting in the M. E. Church on Sunday evening was well attended. Quite a number of young people were out. The meeting was made more entertaining by two violinists of Allaben, Miss Esther Riseley and Miss Jane Kessler.

RIFTON.

Rifton, July 7.—J. Lon entertained a number of people from Brooklyn over the Fourth.

Mr. and Mrs. Grotjahn are spending a week at their home here.

Mrs. Fischer has moved to her new home on the state road.

Miss Tessie Schickerle and her father are visiting Mrs. Schickerle. They will stay for a few days.

F. Osterhoudt and family have opened their home for the summer.

The Rayner Boarding House on the corner of Maple street, was filled to capacity over the week end.

Mrs. D. Fridman has returned from her visit to the city.

At a high school examination in Missouri, the following definition was given to anatomy: "Anatomy is the human body, which consists of three parts—the head, the chist, and the stummick. The head contains the eyes and the brains, if any; the chist contains the lungs and a piece of liver; the stummick is devoted to the bowels, of which there are five—a, e, i, o, u, and sometimes w and y."

Then the old man yelled down again:

"Well, young feller, don't you need a crank if you ain't a self-starter?"

NETBURN FINDS FLORIDA HAS BEEN SLANDERED.

Sebring, Fla., July 2, 1926.

To the Editor of The Freeman:

Sir: I thought you might be interested to hear from a resident of Kingston. I am visiting a former resident of our city, who is now located and established in this glorious country. I refer to Ed. Wolf, who married a Miss Minerva Friedman of Kingston, some ten years ago and resided on Green street.

I am prompted to write you this letter for more reasons than one. My main reason, however, being to correct a very much erroneous impression that seems to be prevalent with a great many of us northern folks. I came here primarily to visit Mr. Wolf, who is my brother-in-law, and also for a little trip and rest, but not because of any real interest in Florida or this part of the country. I frankly admit that I am completely convinced of Florida's future and its stability, and I consider it outrageous that any northern publications make themselves a party to propaganda that is just as malicious as it is unfair.

In this little town of Sebring, which has a population at this time of the year, not to exceed 6,000, and a winter population of approximately 10,000, the building permits for the first half of this year are already in excess of $1,000,000.00. Incidentally, the population of Sebring was but 1,200 a little over a year ago, and those who locate here, from what I can gather, are wholeheartedly for Sebring, and completely "sold" on its future. The real estate market seems to be finding its level and all responsible brokers are happy that the wild orgy is over and that things have readjusted themselves on a sensible and sane basis.

Wouldn't it be a wonderful thing if this spirit of friendliness and cooperation existed in Kingston. How much our town would be benefited. Kingston, with all of its natural advantages, deserves to be the premier town along the Hudson, and there is every reason in the world why it should grow and continue to grow. I wish you could see this condition down here in Florida as I see it.

With every best wish, and assuring you that I am all for Kingston, even though I do have a warm spot for Sebring and Florida.

Sincerely yours,
J. NETBURN.

Ten Year 7% Debentures dated January 1, 1919	July 1, 1926
Ten Year 7% Debentures dated July 1, 1920	July 1, 1926

And that on or after said redemption dates respectively upon the presentation of said bonds with all interest coupons maturing on and after said respective redemption dates at the office of the company, 50 Market Street, Poughkeepsie, New York, said bonds will be paid and redeemed at 105% of the face value thereof with interest thereon in full to such redemption dates, and all coupons for interest after such dates shall be void and of no effect.

CENTRAL HUDSON GAS & ELECTRIC COMPANY,
by T. R. Beal, President.
Dated Poughkeepsie, New York, January 2, 1926.

CENTRAL HUDSON GAS & ELECTRIC COMPANY
PREFERRED STOCK ISSUE

In connection with the above notice of call for redemption of the outstanding Debenture Bonds, the directors of this company have voted in favor of the issuance of a 6% Cumulative Preferred Stock of this company which, subject to the approval of the stockholders at their annual meeting to be held on January 26, 1926, will be offered to holders of said Debenture Bonds called for redemption, in exchange for such Debenture Bonds, par for par. In case such action shall be taken by the stockholders, proper notice will be given of the terms and manner of making such exchange.

CENTRAL HUDSON GAS & ELECTRIC COMPANY,
by T. R. Beal, President.
Dated Poughkeepsie, New York, January 2, 1926.

All holders of Debenture Bonds of Central Hudson Gas & Electric Co., are requested to read the accompanying notice carefully.

The Ten year bonds dated January 1, 1919 and July 1, 1920 have been called for payment on July 1, 1926, after which date they will cease to draw interest. All coupons attached to these bonds bearing date subsequent to July 1, 1926 are invalid.

Bonds will be received at any office of the company. If it is desired to redeem them for cash, payment of the principal, premium of 5% and interest will be made on the redemption date.

If it is desired to exchange for preferred stock, so long as such stock is available, holders of bonds may detach July 1st interest coupon and make the exchange now. Exchange may be made par for par, the premium of 5% being paid to the holder in cash.

Holders of bonds called for redemption on March 1 who have not turned them in are urged to do so without delay, such bonds having ceased to draw interest after March 1st.

Two Vacancies on Court of Appeals

To Be Filled at General Election This Fall—Bar Association Names Committee to Confer With Both Political Parties in Regard to Nominees.

William D. Guthrie, chairman of the conference of leading lawyers of the state which recently met in New York city for the purpose of promoting joint action by the Republican and Democratic parties on nominations for chief judge and associate judge of the court of appeals, today announced the membership of the committee that will work on this matter.

The objective of the committee is to confer with the Republican and Democratic state and county leaders to secure their cooperation in bringing about the nomination by both parties of the same candidates to fill the two vacancies about to take place in the court of appeals, to the end that the nominee for chief judge shall be a present member of the court and that the nominee for associate judge shall be a present member of the appellate division.

Chief Judge Frank H. Hiscock and Associate Judge Chester B. McLaughlin of the court of appeals will both retire this year under the age limit. Both are Republicans.

According to the political gossip in the New York newspapers, Associate Justice Benjamin N. Cardozo (Dem.) and Cuthbert W. Pound (Rep.), the former of New York city and the latter of Lockport, Niagara county, have been mentioned in connection with the chief judgeship, while Justice John V. McAvoy of New York city and Justice T. Kellogg of Plattsburg, both sitting in the appellate division of the Supreme court, have received consideration in political circles in connection with the vacancy that will arise through the retirement of Justice McLaughlin.

Chairman Samuel Seabury, of the conference committee, has suggested that the committee meet in Albany this month. The members of the committee are as follows:

Samuel Seabury, chairman, New York county; Thomas F. Conway, vice chairman, Clinton county; Daniel J. Kenefick, vice chairman, Erie county; Louis Marshall, vice chairman, New York county; Charles H. Strong, secretary, New York county; I. J. Beaudrias, Westchester county; Maurice Bloch, New York county; George H. Bond, Onondaga county; Neal Brewster, Onondaga county; Edward J. Byrne, Kings county; A. T. Clearwater, Ulster county; Delos M. Cosgrove, Jefferson county; John Courtney, Jr., Cortland county; Louis E. Desbecker, Erie county; William N. Dykman, Kings county; William E. Fitzsimmons, Albany county; F. W. Jenkins, Broome county; Charles H. Kelby, Kings county; Irving L'Hommedieu, Orleans county; Humphrey J. Lynch, Westchester county; Charles J. McDermott, Kings county; Lawrence B. McKelvey, Saratoga county; Charles B. McLaughlin, Bronx county; Nathan L. Miller, New York county; Charles D. Newton, Livingston county; Morgan J. O'Brien, New York county; William Church Osborn, Putnam county; Wallace Pierce, Clinton county; John Godfrey Saxe, New York county; Meier Steinbrink, Kings county; Henry L. Stimson, New York county; Arthur E. Sutherland, Monroe county; Henry W. Taft, New York county; Cortland A. Wilber, Broome county; Charles P. Williams, Wayne county.

Dickens' Clock

Charles Dickens once wrote to his clockmaker as follows, says the Scientific Monthly:

"Since my hall clock was sent to your establishment to be cleaned it has gone (as indeed it always had) perfectly well, but has struck the hours with great reluctance, and, after enduring internal agonies of a most distressing nature, it now has ceased striking altogether. Though a happy release for the clock, this is not convenient for the household. If you can, send down any confidential person with whom the clock can confer. I think it may have something on its works that it would be glad to make a clean breast of."

Calling the Turn

The pastor looked over his glasses and shook his uncut locks.

"Carry out my original declaration," he said, "I am about to call the names of those persons who are now asleep in the congregation. John Haycock."

There was no response.

"John Haycock!"

The stout man stirred again.

"Be down in a minute," he drowsily murmured. "Keep things hot for me."

The pastor's voice rang out:

"You're going down, all right, John Haycock, and things will be kept very hot for you, I'm sure. Let us now sing the ninety-ninth hymn."

Despatches From Foreign Parts

Paris, July 7.—Doctor Serge Voronoff, famed rejuvenator, has made a sporting proposition. He has agreed to perform a gland operation free of charge on any French ex-athlete to prove that athletes, no matter how old or decrepit, can "come back." Up to the present Dr. Voronoff has had no takers.

Pekin, July 7.—The annual gallery of photographs of the Government Poor School has netted husbands for forty-seven of the girl students. Each year pictures of all the marriageable students are hung in one room, and swains are then permitted to inspect them and select possible brides. If a marriage is arranged the bridegroom is expected to make a contribution to the school.

London, July 7.—Lieutenant Colonel Bernard Freybourg, the hero of one of the greatest unsuccessful channel swims ever made, is to make a second attempt to swim the English Channel this month. Freybourg, who is a war veteran bearing the marks of nine wounds, had to give up on his last attempt when only 400 yards from shore.

Rome, July 7.—Bobbed and shingled hair will be banned in court circles during the coming Rome season, it is reported. Queen Helena, who possesses luxuriant long black hair, is opposed to the present mode of hairdressing. Her two daughters have their hair dressed with a "bobbed" effect, thus meeting the styles and their mother's wishes.

Odd [illegible] Worn at Festivals for Dead

One of the queer and interesting customs of the Melanesians, dark-skinned inhabitants of the South Sea islands, is the festival in honor of their dead. At their festivals masks of grotesque appearance play an important part, says the Detroit News.

A collection of such masks has been made for the American Museum of Natural History. One of them resembles a crested helmet. Masks of this type, it is said, must be carved in secret and presented to the public view only during the funeral ceremonies. The crest of the mask represents an earlier custom of hairdress of the natives when they were in mourning. In the early days they shaved their heads on such occasions, leaving only a single ridge of hair.

One particular type has long, wing-like processes. The face is carved from wood and the fibrous parts of plants are used in working out the other parts of the head. With such masks bark is used as a covering for the neck. Masks from the Gazelle peninsula, New Britain, are made from the facial bones of skulls. The flesh is removed and replaced by sticky lumps of earth.

Will It Come to This?

Mistress of House (to prospective new maid)—I think you'll do, and I'll engage you.

Maid—Yassum. But dey's jes' one moah thing Ah wants to make shuah of. Is dey anyone in de house who's learnin' de saxophone?

Mistress—Oh, yes; we are a very musical family and my husband and the two boys are taking up that instrument.

Maid—Dem it's all off. Ah can't stay.

Mistress—What! Don't you like music?

Maid—Oh, yes; Ah likes music all right. Dat's jes' it. I'se learnin' de saxophone mahself, soon Ah kin play in de lodge band, an' it hurts me all up to have othahs in de house practicing all de time. Ah hate to have it quiet where Ah practices.

UNION CENTER.

Union Center, July 7.—The funeral of Mrs. Janis Burger was held from the home of her sister-in-law, Mrs. Ella Burger, on Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. Kuehn had the misfortune to fall and suffer painful injuries one day last week.

Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Kelly and Miss Helena Wells of Schenectady were holiday guests of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. Wells.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Doel and daughter, Eileen, and Cornelius Raftery of Brooklyn, who have been guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Raftery, have returned home.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Voelker and daughter, Martha, of Jersey City, are spending their vacation with Mrs. House.

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Webb and daughter, Sarah, of Rutherford, were week-end guests of Mrs. Webb's mother, Mrs. F. Van Wagenen.

Mr. and Mrs. Willard Keiffer and some friends of Brooklyn were holiday guests of Mr. and Mrs. F. Keiffer.

Mr. and Mrs. S. Coutant and Mrs. M. Cole and sons, Alton, and Winfield, of Ulster Park were guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Raftery on Sunday.

Frank Cole and daughter, Elizabeth, of Palisades were guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. Cole over the holiday. Elizabeth will spend her vacation with her grandparents here.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank St. John, Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Frank St. John, Jr., and two children of Brooklyn, with a party of friends, were callers at Mr. and Mrs. C. Wells's and Mr. and Mrs. A. Cole's on Sunday.

Mrs. F. Propper and daughter, Ruth, and son, Stanley, of this place are spending the holidays with Mrs. Propper's sister at Binnewater.

The Loyal Workers will hold their July meeting at the home of the president, Charles Warren, on Friday evening of this week. All members are asked to be present.

The Rev. G. W. Gulick preached a fine sermon on Sunday evening.

The Fourth was spent very quietly in this place.

Great Men of Early Times

Socrates was the greatest of Greek philosophers. Plato is regarded as the most famous of ancient philosophers. Aristotle and Pythagoras were, respectively, a great Greek philosopher and an early Greek philosopher. Pericles was an Athenian statesman. Herodotus was a Greek historian. Orpheus was the most illustrious poet of pre-Homeric times. Aeschylus was a celebrated Greek tragic poet.

"Wet" and "Dry" Contributions

Washington, July 7—After a hectic session, in which the Senate Slush Fund Committee reversed itself several times about making public the names of the Anti-Saloon League's "angels" and the amounts of their contributions, a compromise was finally reached Tuesday afternoon to make public a partial list of the dry donors since 1925.

This decision followed the publication by Capt. William H. Stayton of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment of his donators and their donations, which revealed that Mrs. Barend Von Gerbig of New Canaan, Conn., was the largest individual contributor to the wet funds, being credited with $5,200, in five installments.

The largest contributors to the Anti-Saloon League, in the list made public, were the John D. Rockefellers, father and son. They were credited with 20,000 since 1925, although it is known that their contributions prior to that year were considerably larger.

PLAN TO PLUG LEAKAGES OF MEDICINAL LIQUOR

Washington, July 7.—Steps to tighten up the leakages of medicinal liquor and industrial alcohol are being taken by the prohibition bureau.

A new chemists' formula, designed to outwit the bootleggers who have been reclaiming industrial alcohol, was put into effect. Hereafter, industrial alcohol will be "shot" with a combination of tyridine, benzine, gasoline and wood alcohol.

New orders also were issued compelling druggists to submit records of their liquor sales to prohibition administrators monthly, and to prevent the transportation of liquor from bonded warehouses except by bonded railway and express companies.

Poet Lost at Sea

William Falconer, a Scottish poet of the Eighteenth century, was the son of a barber. He was lost at sea in 1769, when the frigate Aurora, of which he was a purser, went down with all hands.

National Open Golf Tourney

Bobby Jones, Hagen and MacFarlane Favored—Many Ex-holders of The Title Entered—Great Tournament Expected.

(By Davis J. Walsh.)

Columbus, O., July 7.—The back-breaking, nerve-racking layout at the Scioto Country Club, scene of the National Open Golf Championship twenty-four hours hence, will be fairly glutted with class today as Bobby Jones, Walter Hagen and Willie MacFarlane, the big three of golfdom, will re-touch the edges of their play in preparation for the big moment. They will take part in the amateur-pro event, curtain raiser for the championship, and so will many of the remaining stars in the field of 153.

A huge crowd will want to see how Jones, greatest figure in golf today as a result of his victory in the British Open, will size up with MacFarlane, the man who beat him in a special play-off for the American open title last year. The Jones versus Hagen element, which was uppermost in the recent dash toward the British title, which Hagen had won twice previously, also was a crowd pleaser. Even the presence of Gunn will not detract anything from the general interest in this foursome, the young Atlantan having chased Jones right into the American Amateur Championship at Oakmont last year, in addition to giving a generally sparkling performance in the British Amateur event last month.

However, the man who thinks that Jones, Hagen and MacFarlane have the field to themselves is a man who may be minus a lot of serious money when the tournament is over. Jones, even though a general favorite today, was quoted at no better than 8 to 1, with Hagen a staunch second choice at 10 to 1.

In fact, the premises fairly teemed with ex-holders of the title, the list including Gene Sarazen, "Chick" Evans, Cyril Walker, Jim Barnes and Hagen himself. Furthermore, no one was reading men like MacDonald Smith, Al Watrous, runner-up to Jones abroad, Bill Mehlhorn, Bobby Cruikshank, who tied Jones in the 1923 open, Jock Hutchinson, first American to win the British open, George Von Elm, who tied Hagen abroad, and Freddie McLeod, out of the party without a second look.

They were only a casual few among the big timers, at that. As a matter of fact, with all the champions, past and present, lined up for the tournament, it looked like the greatest open championship since Francis Ouimet first took American golf out of the primary grades by beating Ted Ray and Harry Vardon for that never-to-be-forgotten title at Brookline.

Kaplan Abandons Feather Title

New York, July 7—Louis Kid Kaplan's action in surrendering the world's featherweight championship may result in the New York Boxing Commission staging another elimination tournament to decide who will be the new champion, it was declared in fight circles here today.

Kaplan relinquished his title because he is no longer able to make the class limit of 126 pounds.

It was in an elimination tournament sponsored by the New York Boxing Commission that Kaplan won the championship.

Eligibles for the vacant title are numerous. They include Babe Herman, of California; Jose Lombardo, of Panama; Bobby Garcia, of Camp Holabird, Md.; Danny Kramer of Philadelphia; Mike Dundee, of Rock Island, Ill.; Benny Bass, of Philadelphia, and Red Chapman, of Boston.

Kaplan's action in relinquishing the crown came as a surprise. Kaplan's manager announced that Kaplan will now seek championship honors in the lightweight division, which includes such star scrappers as Sammy Mandell, Ace Hudkins, Ruby Goldstein and Sid Terris.

Johnny Dundee, veteran of more than 400 battles, dropped the featherweight title before Kaplan won it for the same reason—inability to make the weight.

ALLEGED SHORTAGE IN FUNDS OF BOSTON NATIONALS

Boston, July 7.—Secrecy today surrounded a reported investigation into an alleged shortage of several thousand dollars in the funds of the Boston Baseball Club of the National League.

The shortage was said to have resulted from alleged tampering with the turnstiles at the club's park.

While admitting that an investigation is under way, Judge Emil Fuchs, president of the club, declined to discuss the matter in any way.

"I am leaving for New York to take part in the Christy Mathewson Day exercises and expect to return to Boston Friday," he said. "Until the investigation is completed, I do not think it would be fair to the person or persons who may be involved to say anything now for publication.

NATIONAL CLAY COURTS MATCHES AT DETROIT.

Detroit, July 7.—Play in the National Clay Courts Championships on the Detroit Tennis Club courts was resumed today with two prominent players eliminated in yesterday's matches.

One was George O'Connell, of Chicago and the other was Francisco Aragon, of the Philippine Islands, and member of their Davis Cup Team. O'Connell was eliminated by Louis Thalheimer, Dallas, Tex., 6-3, 4-6, 6-4. Aragon fell before the racquet onslaught of Berkeley Bell, Austin, Tex., 6-3, 9-7.

Ellis Klingemann, of Chicago, was defeated by Alfred Chapin Jr., 6-3, 6-3.

Gasmen Give City Severe Trimming

The Kingston Gas & Electric and City engaged in a slugfest at the Athletic Field Tuesday night. The Gasmen outbatted their opponents and swamped them 20-6, hitting O'Neil and Jimmy Baker freely.

Sickler led the hitters, getting four hits out of five times up, two of them being home runs. McGrane, Lynch and Van Buren also hit hard, Lynch and Van Buren hitting for the circuit.

Lynch opened the game with a home run to right field. McGrane hit a triple in this inning and scored on an error. The City scored four more runs in the third, and that was the end of the scoring as far as they were concerned.

The Gasmen scored in every inning except the first. They scored nine in the second, four in the third, one in the fourth and six in the fifth.

McGrane played a good game in the field, grabbing a couple hard drives.

Kingston Cops To Play Ball

The ball tossers of the Kingston police department are busy limbering up their arms and batting eyes in preparation for the big game of the season when they will entertain the ball players of the Newburgh police department at the Kingston Fair Grounds on August 25 in the opening police game of the season.

It is planned that the return game will be played at Newburgh on either September 1 or September 11.

Officer Bowser is expected to toss them over for the locals with Officer Relyea on the receiving end.

The line-up of the locals has not been announced as yet, but will probably be about the same as last season.

Chappies Beat Colonials, 4-2

Bob Cooney On Mound For Colonials At Glens Falls Tuesday Pitches Good Ball But All-Stars Win Out.

The Colonials lowered their market value a few notches Tuesday afternoon in Glens Falls by suffering their third straight defeat, Chappie Johnson's All-Stars marring the Phelpsmen's record this time by a 4 to 2 tally.

Manager Phelps fell short of twirlers during the trip upstate and scouted about until he found a lad by the name of Bob Cooney a native of Glens Falls and also a New York collegian. Bob made Chappie do his full share of the worrying until the fourth and fifth frames when the new-found Colonial became a little wobbly and issued five passes all at once. The sad side of the story was that three of the free tickets materialized and became runs and from then on Chappie worried no more.

Cooney looked as good as gold against the Colored lads, giving them but five hits during the entire contest. On the other hand the Colonials got to the enemy twirler for nine solid blows. But hits didn't mean a thing when the local twirler acted the role of a spendthrift in the fourth and fifth frames. One All-Star crossed in the wild fourth and three more in the wilder fifth giving Chappie four prizes. In the Colonials' first they got to Shields for two runs and then stopped, so consequently Chappie took away the ball game.

Shields gave the locals three hits in the opener. Phelps and Kelly singled to start the inning. When Allen went out on an infield fly Phelps made a dive for third and landed safe. Bernie McCue then hit a husky single and Phelps and Kelly scored the Kingstonians' two runs.

After Cooney had walked two in the fourth, O'Malley made a wild throw to second which went roaming out into field and Warmack who was on second scored. In the fifth two more were walked. Then Cooney let loose with a wild pitch and the enemy saw their chance and crashed into the local twirler with a double and a single in a row and Chappie's team had three more markers.

Tagging Major League Bases

The Reds, refusing to believe the experts' dictum that they are due to crack, nosed out the Cardinals in the eleventh, 5 to 2, and increased their lead to five full games. Grover Alexander had pitched Carl Mays to a standstill until the ninth when Pipp's homer tied the score.

The Pirates again split a twin bill, taking a six-inning affair from the Cubs, 3 to 2, after Joe Bush, making his bow as a Corsair in the opener, was beaten by Blake 2 to 0.

Tris Speaker's Indians said goodbye to Chicago with a smile after losing to the White Sox, 8 to 0, in their final appearance in the Windy City. Blankenship toyed with the Indians while the Sox made merry with Karr's offerings.

Ernie Wingard of the Browns treated the Tigers to their fifth straight defeat, the score being 5 to 2. Detroit's only scores were homers by Heilmann and Fothergill.

OLD-TIMERS' GAME FOR MATHEWSON MEMORIAL

New York, July 7.—John McGraw, Joe McGinnity, Johnny Evers and other old time baseball stars will be seen in action at the Polo Grounds this afternoon in an old-timers' game. The proceeds from this contest and an interleague exhibition game between the Giants and the Washington Senators, which will complete the program, will be given to the Christy Mathewson Memorial Fund. Part of the money will be turned over to Bucknell College, Matty's alma mater, for the erection of a clubhouse to perpetuate his name and the remainder will go to the fund for the erection of a home for disabled veterans at Saranac Lake, N. Y.

Roger Bresnahan and Frank Bowerman will catch, Rube Marquard will pitch, and Ted Tinney, Joe Tinney and Fred Clark also will appear in the old-timers' game.

Green Shingle Inn Shooting Mystery

She served soda and sandwiches only at her place of business. So far as she knew there was no beer at the place on July 5 when the shooting took place.

When the four men came on the porch she admitted them. They evidently had been drinking and were noisy.

Took Names "Like Good Fellows."

She first heard the four men call the Italians names. The Italians took it "like good fellows" first and then asked them to stop it. The party of four continued. One said he knew they were guineas from East Kingston. When the Italians objected to the names, one of the party of four men asked them if shey were ashamed of their nationality and they replied that they were not ashamed of being Italians or being so called but they objected to the other names.

Daisy said one of the four stood in the front door. She asked the man in the door to stop using such language, that the Italians could stand a certain amount of such abuse but not too much. She asked him to leave the other party alone and be a gentleman. One of the Italians went over to the table where the second party was seated and asked them to keep their friend quiet. Next thing she knew there was a fight.

She was not in the place when the shot was fired. She had gone out to the road to see if the State Troopers were coming.

Signal Misinterpreted.

She testified that one of the party had raised his hand and the Italians started toward the table thinking the man was to strike the Italian who had gone over and requested the men to keep still. She said the man had raised his hand to signal her to get out.

Before the fight started she sent Dominick Sotille to a 'phone to call the Troopers. When the argument started she knew there would be trouble and she wanted the Troopers to help maintain order. She went upstairs to verify the number of the Troopers' 'phone after Dominick had gone. Dominick, who worked for her, was asleep in his car in the yard when the first party arrived. He came in and assisted in serving the men.

Bottles Used as Missiles.

While Daisy was outside looking for the Troopers she heard a report and when she came in the men were fighting all over the place. Bottles which had been on the back porch were being thrown when she arrived back. The rear door, which had been locked when she left, was open. The bottles had been on the back porch, back of the place where the Italians had been seated at the table. The four men were close to the front door.

She saw no gun and did not know who fired the shot.

Edna, housekeeper for Daisy Williams, had been sent away from the place when the trouble started, as she was afraid.

Italians Were Sober.

Daisy said the Italians were sober when they arrived and there was no trouble in the place until the second party arrived. The Italians were visiting and introducing their friends.

After the shooting she endeavored to find out who had been shot. The fight was still in progress after the shooting. It was after the shot had been fired that she saw bottles thrown.

She went upstairs to get the 'phone number to make sure it was correct and call the Troopers again when they did not arrive after Dominick had first been sent to 'phone.

Fred Perri Owns Inn.

Daisy said Fred Perri owned the Green Shingle Inn and she had operated it since May 28. It was raided a short time before that.

Dominick came back and reported the Troopers would be over. The fight had then stopped.

She said Dominick Sotille was not her partner in the Inn but she had contemplated taking him in as a partner but now she had changed her mind in regard to the whole place.

Jacob Feldman was employed by her as a waiter. He was in the place when the fight took place.

Locked Door Against Undesirables.

When questioned as to why she wanted to have the "big fellow" come in so she could close the door, she said she kept the front door locked and tended the door herself. When a party came she unlocked the door and allowed them to come in and then closed the door. Her place was a public house but she locked the door to keep out undesirable men or men who were drunk.

Shot Sandwiched Between Fights.

Jacob Feldman who waited on table and cleaned up said the Italians came and were served with a drink of soda by Sotille. Feldman said he poured out the soda in the back room at the bar. He saw no beer. The second group came and he heard names called. He poured soda for the second group, too. The Italians had two drinks before the fight started. He heard a shot and a man scream. After the shot the fight was going on at the rear of the place. Before that it was at the front of the place. Thomas Cloud fell partly on the porch and partly inside the room.

After the shot the fight lulled for a moment and the injured man was placed on a chair. Then the fight started again at the rear and bottles were thrown.

Chairs Used As Weapons.

Ralph Magger and Dominick Sotille served the drinks of beer. He was not sure about Daisy and could not at first remember seeing her there at all. Later he recalled her being there. He said Joe went over to talk to the second party about calling names and Angelo got up and went over to help Joe. The fight started. He was inside when the shot was fired. He did not think Angelo Quattere was in the room when the shot was fired. He saw a few chairs used as weapons in addition to bottles.

Says Shot Was Fired Inside.

Joe Magger told about the same story but added that the Italians had offered to buy a drink for the four men who came in and they refused to accept the offer. He said he went over to the table to ask the men to keep the big fellow quiet. One of the men threatened to break his arm and grabbed hold of him. Antonio came to his rescue and the fight started.

He heard the shot. It was fired inside. He said he was pushed down on the floor in the fight and did not see who had fired the shot.

Hearing Continued.

This concluded the testimony and Mr. Traver asked that Jacob Feldman and Daisy Williams be held in jail as material witnesses until 2 o'clock Wednesday when the case would be continued.

So far the only testimony taken has been that of the proprietor of the Green Shingle Inn and her employes and that of the Italians who were held in jail as material witnesses.

The four men who arrived in the second party were Arthur Van Etten, Richard Van Etten, Cortland Van Etten and Edward Cochrane, all of this city and none of whom were arrested after the fight. They notified the sheriff of the affair by 'phone and returned to the scene after they had sent in a message.

District Attorney Traver consented to the dismissal of the four Magger boys following their testifying Tuesday afternoon.

Australia to Fight Cactus

Because the cactus plant has become a pest in Australia the government has sent scientists to America to study means of combating the plant. They are looking for some plant disease or insect that will feed on the cactus and thus help to rid the country of it. It is assumed that the cactus plant was taken to Australia from America.

Fame Not Always Fleet

Fame does not always come quickly to the genius. Alexander Graham Bell, for instance, spent most of his life perfecting the telephone and proving that it was not a toy. Wagner and "Tannhauser" hissed from the stage and Booth Tarkington labored seven years before his first novel was accepted.

Hoaxed French Scientists

A French adventurer, Jean Baptiste Douville, received the gold medal of the Paris Geographical society for the most important discovery in 1830. The award was based on his book on the Congo—a fabrication.

TO RAISE KARAKUL SHEEP IN AMERICA

Big Profits Assured From Fur-Bearing Animals.

Since the World war the demand for furs has brought a good many people easy money and has somewhat changed our standards, says Guy E. Richell in the Scientific American.

This has resulted in the virtual extinction of fur-bearing animals throughout large regions where they formerly were comparatively plentiful and where they were hunted and trapped so persistently as to prevent reproduction. With this decrease in local production the corners of the world are being searched for furs.

The recognition of this fact has stimulated a few far-sighted ones to breed an American flock of Karakul sheep, from the lambs of which the famous Astrachan or Persian lamb is produced.

This fur is now a great favorite and garments made of it are successful competitors with the finest of fur coats made from the skins of wild animals. In fact, these skins are classed by the trade and by the wearers as "real fur."

The production of this fur in the United States seems to be entirely feasible and should prove commercially attractive. It now is imported mostly from Bokhara, in Central Asia, where there are reported to be some 8,000,000 or more Karakul sheep, from the three-day old lambs of which the fur is obtained.

Curly, with a beautiful gloss, it is in strong demand for women's fur garments. Its increasing popularity has caused a steady advance in the price of these skins. Those of highest quality sell in New York for from $8 to $12.50 each and even inferior skins bring $3 apiece.

Karakul sheep thrive in the United States. This has been well demonstrated. The greatest difficulty in quickly establishing an American industry has been in securing importations of a sufficient number of pure-bred animals.

There now are about 500 pedigreed sheep listed in the American fur sheep registry. It is from these that an American Astrachan and Persian lamb industry must be built up.

Honor for Cheese Maker

Dr. John Knirim, formerly a medical specialist at a famous New York sanitarium, appeared recently in the French village of Vimoutier, not far from Caen, and announced that he had come to pay homage to the memory of Louise Harel, a farmer's wife, who, at the end of the Eighteenth century, gave to the world the noble Camembert cheese. The village rose to the occasion, and a large procession, including the mayor and other dignitaries, marched behind a band to the cemetery where sleeps the discoverer of the cheese. There Doctor Knirim pronounced a eulogy and laid a laurel wreath. The procession then went to the ancient farmhouse where the woman had lived, and the doctor affixed upon the walls a bronze plaque, upon which was written a hymn in praise of the cheese.

Novel Landing Lights

Glass-covered parallel trenches in which "neon" light tubes are installed have been dug across the British landing field at Croydon to aid flyers to descend safely in fogs. The reddish glow of the lamps, it has been found, penetrates the mist more effectively than other kinds of light. Between the tubes is a "leader cable" which affects a sensitive instrument in an airplane flying above it. Having been guided to the field by radio, the pilot, after picking up the boundaries of the area by means of the cable, can circle around, gauging his altitude by means of the action of the cable on the instrument until the lights themselves are visible and the landing can be made with little or no risk of accident.

Scotch Prefix "Mac"

Many variations of the prefix Mac are in common use, in the spelling of proper names, and all recognized, the use of one form or the other being a matter of personal preference. The word Mac is a Gaelic prefix, meaning son, corresponding to the affix son in names of Teutonic origin, as Davidson, and the prefix Fitz in Norman names. Originally "Mac" Donald was a son of Donald. In course of time the two words came to be written as one, Macdonald. The surname Macdonald is now spelled in a variety of ways—Macdonald and McDonald, in addition to which there are many variations of the same as McDonnell, McDaniel, McKenzie, etc.

Frigidaire is for every home and every purse

Don't think because Frigidaire is such a fine piece of household equipment, that buying it is difficult. Every home can afford it. Few homes can really afford to be without it. You can buy Frigidaire with a very reasonable down payment and pay the balance on easy monthly terms.

From the moment Frigidaire is installed, you will be entirely independent of outside ice supply. With Frigidaire there's no melting, no waste. Food spoilage stops. Frigidaire makes ice cubes for you, sized properly for instant use in many ways. Every inch of compartment space is chilled constantly—always at the right degree—whether you are at home or miles away on a visit. Frigidaire needs no attention. You press no buttons, turn no levers, start nothing, stop nothing.

You can have your own ice-box converted into a Frigidaire—or you can purchase a complete Frigidaire cabinet.

Who Wants Job as Janitor or Clerk?

The municipal civil service board will hold an examination to make up an eligible list for janitor of the city schools, and also examinations to make up an eligible list from which may be appointed a secretary to the principal of the high school, and also a clerk to the high school principal. All three examinations will be held at the city hall on Friday evening, July 16.

According to the announcement of the civil service board there are two permanent and one temporary appointment as janitor to be made. The job will pay from $85 to $90 per month.

The position as secretary to the high school principal is for females only and pays, according to the civil service board, $800 a year to start.

The position as clerk is also open to females only and the civil service board states the salary is $400 a year.

Foolish Beliefs Not Confined to Sailors

In defense of the supposedly superstitious fisherman, Lorenzo Sabine, in 1858, in an article on the American fisherman, wrote:

"It is said that he is credulous and superstitious. Admit that Kidd's money has been dug for in every dark nook of the coast, or talked about in every cuddy for a century and a half, and that horseshoes are nailed upon the masts of fishing vessels to keep off witches; what then? Is he the only one who has been or still is guilty of the same follies?

"In 1825 the duchess de Berri visited a watering place in France and indulged in sea bathing. Salt water and fish which were afterward taken from the spot were articles of immense value and sold at enormous prices. Indeed, those persons who could not purchase a whole fish gladly possessed themselves of a few scales or a fin! The water where the 'royal person' had been washed, when bottled and offered for sale, was known as 'Berri wine.' Have fishermen committed greater follies than these fashionable people of France?"

Good for Lorenzo! Today horseshoes are so scarce that fishermen no longer nail them to the masts of their schooners to keep off witches, although they do hang used automobile casings over the side to keep off other craft that might rub their planking.

Fox Fires No Longer Cause Childish Fear

Boys and girls nowadays seldom experience the thrill of seeing a mysterious light glowing dimly in the depths of the forest or gleaming from some half-buried rotten log in a lonely swamp. The cutting away of the forests and the draining of swampy land have cleared from much of the landscape the causes which produce fox fire. In early days, however, the feet of pioneer children often were sent scampering home in the twilight when their owners came unexpectedly upon a light which seemed to have no source, says the Indianapolis News.

Ghosts and goblins and all sorts of evil omens ever have been associated with the appearance of fox fire and will-o'-the-wisps. There long has been a difference of opinion regarding the cause of fox fire, but now it is generally conceded to be due to a living fungus growth which permeates decaying vegetable matter and which possesses the power of emitting waves of light. No sensible heat waves are thrown out, and in this respect fox fire resembles the light emitted by fireflies and glowworms. Many a ghost might have been traced to its lair had the origin of phosphorescence been understood better, especially in the countries where the will-o'-the-wisps are reputed to be of frequent occurrence.

Two Lost Rings Quickly Found

Owner Dropped Them In Leaving Husband's Auto Near Rhinebeck Ferry—One Ring Recovered There, Other Traveled to Kingston Point And Back on Running Board.

John E. Randerson of Albany, member of the Randerson Dredging Company which is engaged in various dredging enterprises along the Hudson river, sat with his wife in their automobile in front of William Hiltebrandt's garage this morning when Mrs. Randerson asked a passing newsboy how soon she would be able to take the ferry for Rhinecliff.

"You can catch the boat now if you hurry," said the boy, and Mrs. Randerson with a word of good-bye to her husband stepped quickly out of the car and ran to the ferry shed.

Before reaching Rhinecliff, where she intended to spend the day with friends while Mr. Randerson was making a trip to Hudson and other down-river points where dredging work is being carried on by his company, Mrs. Randerson discovered the loss of an emerald-cut solitaire diamond ring valued at over $500 and a cameo ring that has been a family heirloom.

On reaching Rhinecliff she telephoned at once to Mr. Hiltebrant's office to inquire for her husband who, she was told, had gone to Kingston Point as soon as the gas tank on his car had been filled, a few minutes after her hurried exit from the car.

Mrs. Randerson told Mr. Hiltebrant of her loss and explained that she had had both rings in her lap and thought she had gathered them up, but they might have dropped.

A search was immediately begun and one ring was found in the gravel in front of the garage by Leslie Munson of the Hiltebrant force. There was no trace of the other ring. Sometime afterward Mr. Randerson was hailed from the garage as he passed up Ferry Street on his return from Kingston Point, and the loss of the rings and recovery of one of them was explained to him.

Casting his eyes down, Mr. Randerson saw the other lost ring on the running board of his car. It had alighted there when Mrs. Randerson had hurried from the car and had safely traveled to Kingston Point and return.

Submarine Is Hearse for Thirty-three

The submarine S-51 was hauled to the surface and suspended between the six pontoons shown in this picture. The tower can barely be seen between the central floats. Like a steel hearse the ship was towed to the Brooklyn Navy Yard, carrying the bodies of the thirty-three men who went down in it. The sub was recovered by a steamer off New London, Conn., and was raised only after a nine months effort.

wner Must Remove Tree

mon Council Hears That Danger- re Trees Must Be Taken Down by Property Owners—City No Longer does the Work Free of Charge.

That it is up to the property owne. remove a tree considered danger- in front of his property was ught out Tuesday evening at the eting of the common council when derman Clare of the Eighth ward troduced a resolution that the cit. move a dead tree from the corner Adams and West Pierpont streets, hich was referred to the board of blic works

Alderman Everett when the resolu- n was read said he would like to be lightened on the subject as several sidents of his ward had questioned m as to the mode of procedure in oving a dead or dangerous tree re- oved and he asked Mayor Morris lock, who was present, if he could rnish the council with any informa- on on the subject

yor Block said that where there s a dangerous or dead tree stand- g it was up to the property owner have it taken down The board of blic works at one time had done e work free of charge. The board e year had appropriated the sum of 00 for tree removal purposes but fore the year expired the cost had n to over $6 000

"For some time past," said Mayor lock, 'the city has not taken down ees, but when a tree was considered angerous or dead had notified the roperty owner to remove it within a rtain length of time. In case the roperty owner neglected to comply ith the order, the city went ahead nd removed the tree and charged the xpense to the property owner".

Justices of Peace Must File Records

Law Requires Record of Convictions In Intoxicated Driver Cases to be Filed.

Under the new provision of the law which gives courts of special sessions jurisdiction in disposing of charges of driving a motor vehicle while intoxicated as a first offense, it is imperative that courts of special sessions file with the county clerk a record of convictions as provided by law. Although courts of special sessions have jurisdiction in first offense cases, a second offender must come before a court of record.

In order to determine whether the offender is a first or second offender under the law it is absolutely necessary for every justice of the peace to file a report of convictions with the county clerk as required by law.

In Ulster county in the past several of the justices of the peace have neglected to file a record of convictions with the county clerk as required. This matter should be more carefully attended to if the court records are to be complete and especially so now that there is a distinction in the jurisdiction of the courts which may dispose of intoxicated drivers, as this violation of the law appears to be a very popular one in Ulster county.

Financial and Commercial

New York, July 7.—Stock prices moved within a narrow range today in a market that was irregular and only moderately active.

Early this afternoon American Can was up one point at 56, U. S. Steel, however, was down a point at 142 while General Motors advanced ⅞ to 150½. During the morning professionals tried to start a technical reaction in the general list by concentrating pressure on U. S. Steel and, while this stock was hammered down somewhat, the manoeuvre failed to materially affect the other industrial leaders.

The strike on the Interborough Subway Lines in New York had its effect on Interborough Rapid Transit stock today which fell off 1¼ points to 41⅞. Yesterday the stock advanced in the face of the strike.

U. S. Cast Iron Pipe continued its sensational advance by a further gain of 5¾ points to 216 and the bulls forced DuPont to a new high record of the year of 248⅜, a gain of almost two points.

Bethlehem Steel was the centre of bullish activity, rising 2⅛ points to 45.

Consolidated Gas advanced ¾ to 103⅞ and Davison Chemical gained 1½ points.

U. S. Rubber advanced 1¼ to 57¾ and Kelly-Springfield rose to 14, a gain of ½ point.

General Asphalt was a strong feature of the oil group, pushing into a new high ground of 74⅝, but later declining to 73½. Shell Union also was strong, duplicating its previous year high of 28¼.

Only fractional changes were made in motor stocks.

Rails were quiet and somewhat irregular. Southern Railway was up 1⅝ at 119⅝.

Sales of stock up to one o'clock totaled 932,300 shares. Call Money opened and renewed at 4½ per cent.

Oscar L. Eastman Dead at 75 Years

Widely Known in Masonic Order in Which He Had Held Many Offices —Active in Wurts Street Baptist Church.

In the death of Oscar L. Eastman, which occurred at his home, 95 West Pierpont street, on Tuesday afternoon, Kingston has lost one of its most widely known and respected citizens.

Mr. Eastman came to Kingston in 1871 and was actively engaged in business here from that time until August 1, 1921, when he retired from active business. For many years he worked for the Coykendall interests in different positions and at the time of his retirement was bookkeeper for the Cornell Steamboat Company.

He was high in the Masonic order and was well and favorably known by Masons throughout the state. He was also a very active member of the Wurts Street Baptist Church of this city. He was 75 years old.

A Masonic funeral service will be held at his late residence on Thursday evening at 8 o'clock. The funeral and interment on Friday will be private.

Mr. Eastman was the son of the Rev. Orresta Eastman, a Baptist clergyman, and was born on April 1, 1851, at Ira, Cayuga Co., N. Y. He was educated in the public schools of Truth, Lewis county; Litchfield, Herkimer county; Plymouth, Chenango county; Springfield, Otsego county; and Ontario and Walworth, Wayne county. He later completed a course at Eastman's Business College in Poughkeepsie. While a resident of Springfield he learned telegraphy and was an operater when the news came of President Lincoln being shot in 1865. On February 21, 1871, he came to Rondout, and has resided in this city since that time.

The next day after his arrival here he accepted a position in Winter's book store and telegraph office, his employer being superintendent of the telegraph line. His employer was also postmaster of the then Rondout post office, and he was at once sworn in as clerk in the post office. He continued until May 9, 1877, when he resigned from the book store and became deputy postmaster under a new postmaster, Andrew N. Barnes. This position he retained until December 1, 1880, when he resigned and became bookkeeper in the general office of the Wallkill Valley Railroad Company. He served as such until February 11, 1882, when he entered the employ of Samuel D. Coykendall, where he remained until he retired on August 1, 1921.

He at once became auditor and bookkeeper of the Stony Clove & Catskill Mountain Railroad Company, and served as such until the company was sold to the Ulster & Delaware Railroad Company. At the same time, February 14, 1882, he became bookkeeper for the Kingston City Railroad Company, and on October 1, 1884, he became auditor, which position he held until January 16, 1901, when Mr. Coykendall, who owned all of the stock, sold it to the Kingston Consolidated Railroad Company, when the management changed. On April 10, 1895, he became secretary and treasurer of the Rhinebeck & Kingston Ferry Company and held that position until May 11, 1913, when he became bookkeeper, which position he held until his retirement. On January 19, 1901, he became bookkeeper of the Cornell Steamboat Company, which position he also held until his retirement.

He was a member of all the bodies in the American Rite in the Masonic order, holding in all 45 degrees. He was initiated into Masonry on August 12, 1872. He was a past master, past assistant grand lecturer, past district deputy grand master and past grand representative in symbolic Masonry, past high priest, past assistant grand lecturer and past grand master, first veil, in capitular masonry; past commander of Rondout Commandery, No. 52, Knights Templar, and past grand representative. He was a thirty-second Mason in the Scottish Rite and a member of Mecca Temple of Mystic Shrine. He was also a member of the New York Society of Founders and Patriots of America. He was a member of the International Order of Good Templars since August 26, 1867, transferring by card through various lodges, and was a member of Apokeepsie Lodge, No. 50, at Poughkeepsie.

On March 2, 1885, Mr. and Mrs. Eastman organized Kingston Chapter, No. 155, Order of the Eastern Star, she becoming the first matron, and served two years, and also one year as district deputy grand matron and he becoming the first patron, serving fifteen years, and three years as assistant grand lecturer. They both became life members of the grand chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, in the State of New York.

Upon coming to Kingston Mr. Eastman had his membership in the Baptist Church at Ontario, N. Y. transferred to the Wurts Street Baptist Church of this city, where he has been an active member and in office almost continuously. At his death he was a member of the board of trustees.

He is survived by his wife, who before her marriage was Miss Kate Preston of this city, and three children, Fred H. Eastman of Brooklyn, Mrs. Elizabeth Lyons of Webster Station, Madison county, and Dr. Frank L. Eastman of this city.

Slush Fund Committee Investigating Into Pennsylvania's Recent Three Million Dollar Senatorial Race Adjourns to Meet in Chicago, July 26.

Washington, July 7.—The Senate Slush Fund Committee this afternoon closed its inquiry into Pennsylvania's recent $3,000,000 senatorial race and adjourned to meet in Chicago, July 26, to launch an investigation into the Illinois senatorial primary.

The adjournment was announced by Senator King (D), of Utah, acting chairman.

"The committee stands adjourned until July 26," said King, "when we will meet in Chicago to inquire into the Illinois primary."

King declared the search for Thomas W. Cunningham, treasurer of the Republican state committee of Pennsylvania, will be continued until he is found. Cunningham, who has evaded service of a committee subpoena, has been sought for the last three weeks.

"Cunningham will be heard later," said King.

The committee quit after Representative John W. Morin, western manager for Representative William S. Vare, told how he kept tens of thousands of dollars in a safe deposit box in Pittsburgh. The money was used for paying Vare workers, he said.

The committee got little new information from Morin and showed but a slight disposition to press him upon points in the testimony that apparently conflicted with the evidence given by previous witnesses.

Sportsman and Banker Dies

New York, July 7.—Edward R. Thomas, sportsman, banker, broker and majority owner of the Morning Telegraph-running horse, is dead here following a three-day illness.

Thomas was born fifty-two years ago at Columbus, Ohio, the son of General Samuel Thomas. After being graduated from Yale in 1894 he came to New York and became a stock broker and was credited with a $2,000,000 corner of the cotton market. In 1902 his father died, leaving an estate estimated at $20,000,000.

When Thomas was only thirty he was president of the Seventh National Bank and the youngest bank head in the country. In the panic of 1907 his personal fortune of nearly $10,000,000 was lost, but he soon rebuilt it.

His turf interests twenty years ago were extensive, his stables including the famous Lady Amelia, Stalwart, and eight other thoroughbreds. At his death, however, he owned only a few horses.

Thomas first married Miss Linda Lee, a Kentucky beauty, but she divorced him in 1912. A few months later he married Miss Elizabeth Finley, an artist, but was secretly divorced from her in 1924. In the same year he married Lucy Cotton, an actress, who survives him.

To Remove Burnt Marks

Salt moistened with vinegar will remove burnt marks from enamelled saucepans and dishes. Don't forget that they should be soaked in cold water for a few hours first to loosen the stains.

Mile-High Winds Faster

At the height of one mile the average velocity of the wind is four times as great as at the earth's surface.

Bean of the Ancients

Crimson flowers of our native Cherokee beans, or coral plants, belong to the same genus as the famous coral trees of India, beloved of Krishna, says Nature Magazine. According to Hindu mythology, these former ornaments of the gardens of heaven are extraordinary for their incredibly long and heavy roots and gaudily colored seeds.
